Zhukov Given Soviets' Defense Minister Post

Military Hero Gets Job Held By Bulganin

Malenkov Demoted To Deputy Premier, Electric Power Boss

MOSCOW (AP)—Georgi K Zhukov, top Soviet military hero and a warm wartime acquaintance of President Eisenhower, was appointed the new defense minister of the Soviet Union today

Immediately after the announcement, the Supreme Soviet (Parliament) was informed that Georgi M. Malenkov, who resigned yesterday as premier, has been named a deputy premier and minister of power stations

Named by Bulganin

Both nominations were made by the new Premier, Nikolai A Bulganin, until yesterday the defense minister A marshal of the Soviet Union, Bulganin still wore his army uniform at today's meeting of this momentous session

Bulganin, in his first speech as Premier, pledged his government to work unswervingly to expand the Soviet Union's heavy industry in order to build up Soviet armed might and raise the country's living standards

He spoke just before the appointments of Malenkov and Zhukov were announced

Both appointments were unanimously approved by a show of hands of the 1 300-member Parliament's joint session in the great Kremlin Palace

Bulganin occupied the defense ministry post until this afternoon when he asked Parliament to relieve him.

Konev in Spotlight

Today's sessions spotlighted another outstanding Soviet war hero, Marshal Ivan S. Konev, who headed the tribunal that condemned the secret police chief, L P Beria, to death in December, 1953 In an address to the cheering Parliament, he asserted that the U S S R 's armed forces have "all kinds of weapons for the complete defeat of aggressors "

Zhukov's appointment to the defense ministry is another step in a profound shakeup of the Soviet government which now underscores the powerful influence of Nikita S Khrushchev, first secretary—and boss—of the Communist party.

(Turn to ZHUKOV, Page 14)

THEY RULE THE COMMUNIST WORLD. When Marshal Nikolai Bulganin (right) dramatically moved into command of the Soviet Union in a surprising shift of power, he joined Red China s Mao Tse Tung (left) as the two top Communist world leaders Bulganin was elevated to the premiership following the resignation of Georgi Malenkov Bulganin pledged that he would return Russia to a policy of heavy industry and agricultural expansion.

Cost of Failure May Be Death For Malenkov

WASHINGTON (AP)—Some American officials who study the ways of the Kremlin believe that Georgi Malenkov, who lost his job yesterday, is destined also to lose his life.

They hold to this view despite surface indications from Moscow that the resigned Premier remains on good terms with Soviet rulers and plans to take on another government post

These officials see it as only a question of time until Malenkov is done away with This would be in the tradition of Joseph Stalin, whose way of doing things apparently is back in vogue in the Kremlin

The struggle for Stalin's mantle goes on just the same, as American sources see it They figure Nikita S Khrushchev, the tough Ukrainian Bolshevik is the No 1 man in the Kremlin Nikolai Bulganin named to succeed Malenkov as premier, is regarded as a figurehead

But this does not mean U S officials consider the power struggle over.

Training School To Get 20 Additional Inmates

To relieve overcrowded conditions at Ohio State Penitentiary, 20 additional men will be transferred to the Marion Training School this week, C M Koblentz, chief of the Division of Correction said today Capacity at the local institution is 165 to 170 men. At present there are 154 men here, Koblentz said.

He made the announcement in a press conference at which he also announced that the prison population in Ohio had reached an all-time high and that 10,329 inmates were now being kept in Ohio s maximum security prisons He called the housing situation "critical."

Kremlin Shakeup Analyzed

U.S. Diplomatic Officials See Cold War Intensified

WASHINGTON (AP) Diplomatic officials look for an intensification of the cold war as a result of the government shakeup in Moscow

A major objective of Soviet foreign policy in the next few weeks is expected to be the blocking of West German rearmament under agreements nearing final approval stages.

The new combination of Premier Nikolai Bulganin, Foreign Minister V. M Molotov and Communist party boss Nikita S. Khrushchev is believed likely to use threats of force and intimidation—a whole line of tough talk and perhaps tough action—to try to frighten the French and Germans away from final action.

Strategy Discarded

Under ex-Premier Georgi Malenkov the Kremlin had followed a basically different strategy of trying to reduce international tensions, lull Western Europe into a sense of security and thereby persuade the French and German peoples, if not their governments, that the rearming of Germany was unnecessary.

The downfall of Malenkov yesterday and the emergence of Khrushchev as strong man started U S agencies on a reappraisal of Soviet aims and methods which probably will take weeks. Some consideration has been given to calling Ambassador Charles E Bohlen home from Moscow to report

Considerable interest was aroused in the State Department by a foreign policy report which Molotov made to the Supreme Soviet yesterday, reflecting the new twist in Russia's policies.

Molotov Talks Tough

Molotov spoke grimly of taking measures to counter the buildup of military strength in Western Europe. Significantly, he abandoned the Malenkov line that modern atomic war would end civilization and took the position instead that only the political systems of the free nations would be ruined

Molotov boasted also that Russia has hydrogen bomb resources

$200 Damages Occur in Fire At Old City Hall

Sparks from an acetylene cutting torch were believed to have set fire Tuesday afternoon to joists and sub-flooring at the old City Building at the corner of W Center and Orchard Sts, Fire Chief O. A Sifritt reported Damage was estimated at $200

Workmen had been trying to cut out a cell block in the old city jail on the ground floor of the building, and it is thought that sparks went through holes in the concrete floor, reaching the joists in the basement and the sub-floor

Firemen from the Central station answered the call at 3 20 p m Tuesday

Tougher Narcotics Laws Needed, O'Neill Declares

Ohio needs stiffer penalties to deal properly with narcotics peddlers C William O'Neill, attorney general of Ohio told the Marion Rotary Club at Hotel Harding Tuesday noon

O'Neill said his office had worked for the last year and a half on a study of the problem and ha come to the conclusion Ohio is one of the easiest states in the midwest on the narcotics violator.

HE SAID THIS is due mainly to the laxity of the law which places the maximum sentence for dope peddling at five years in prison and sets no minimum penalty.

He said that while the majority of the cases encountered by his office in the last year and a half have been in large cities and slum areas, it has uncovered cases in rural counties where young people had obtained dope.

He said the pattern of dope pushers is fairly easy to spot They try to catch a young person who does not realize the dangers of narcotics and offer him a marijuana cigarette on a dare.

He told about one girl who became an addict in that way and reached the point where she was forced into crime to pay her narcotics bills of over $200 a week

He stressed the fact that dope addiction is not confined to the poorer class of people but faces every segment of society

He said that $1,000 worth of raw heroin produces from $250 000 to $300,000 on the illicit market For that amount of money, he said peddlers will take the risk of five years in prison

He pointed out that federal agents cannot attempt to control dope traffic on local levels. There are only 261 U S federal agents in the entire world and their job is concerned mainly with the sources of supply, ports of entry and interstate traffic.

IT IS UP to local authorities to police their own localities he said He recommended that Ohio stiffen its penalties for dope peddling In line with that, he said Ohio courts should have the power to commit addicts to one of two federal hospitals for drug addicts located in Lexington, Ky,

Union Heads Okay Merger Of AFL, CIO

Miami Beach Parley Produces Agreement On Single Federation

(Picture on Page 14)

MIAMI BEACH Fla, (AP) —Negotiating committees for the AFL and CIO today agreed to a historic merger of their rival labor union groups into a single powerful federation

The agreement to end the 20-year-old split within organized labor was reached by two three-member subcommittees representing the American Federation of Labor and the Congress of Industrial Organizations

The merger pact is due to be ratified this afternoon by ten-member committees of each organization

Action Due hursday

The AFL s executive council will pass on the amalgamation at a meeting here tomorrow

Ratifying conventions of both the AFL and CIO unions will be required to put the merger into effect but the agreement reached by AFL president George Meany and CIO chief Walter Reuther seems sure to win approval of their organizations

Welding of the 10 million member AFL and the 5 million member CIO would represent culmination of two years of effort by Meany and Reuther since they became top men in their respective groups in late 1952

Details of the merger agreement were not made public immediately.

Many obstacles had to be overcome to make possible today's announcement

The main barrier to merger was the CIO's insistence that the proposed 15-million-member federation have powers to stop unions from seizing members already organized by other unions.

The CIO was particularly concerned since its union broke away from the AFL two decades ago on substantially the same issue The CIO wanted renewed assurance that it could organize entire plants and that AFL unions would not later try to get particular groups of workers, such as carpenters, drivers or other skilled workmen to shift allegiance to rival AFL unions.

AFL President George Meany was reported to have contended in the closed-door merger talks that while he could not provide an ironclad pledge against union "raiding," he was willing to agree that union territorial invasions could be strongly dealt with under the proposed new setup.

Seek Tighter Control

The CIO leaders, headed by President Walter Reuther, sought more binding authority to stop the "raiding" practice and to assure the CIO a more secure place in the merged setup The AFL now has an estimated ten million members compared with the CIO's five millions

Reuther last night told reporters

"You know I've always been in favor of labor unity and it looks like we're really making progress "

Price of Coffee Dropping Here

Probably the most popular topic of conversation in the next few days will be over a coffee cup — about the price of coffee, naturally

Here in Marion, price drops ranging from 10 to 12 cents per pound are in the making several stores reported this morning For some stores, this is the second price drop in two weeks

In some stores the price cuts became effective Tuesday, and in others today with still others planning to switch over to the new prices Thursday With the price cuts in effect for their own brands of coffee, Marion store officials report a price range of from 79 to 95 cents per pound

Sagging prices in the green coffee market are said to be behind the decreases

Dixon-Yates Financing Wins Approval of SEC

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Securities and Exchange Commission today approved financing to start work on the controversial Dixon-Yates power project.

The commission dividing 4 1 authorized the issuance and sale of 5½ million dollars of common stock

The stock is to be issued by Mississippi Valley Generating Co, set up to build a private power plant to feed power into the Tennessee Valley Authority grid as replacement for power supplied by TVA for atomic installations The contract for the project is with the Atomic Energy Commission.

Reds' Anti-Aircraft Guns Down Straying U.S. Navy Plane Patrolling Tachens

TACHEN EVACUATION PROCEEDS SMOOTH LY. This is a general view of the evacuation operation on the North Tachen island, showing landing craft on the beach with others standing by in the bay. In the foreground are American and Chinese military personnel participating in the operation.

Incident Not Regarded as 'Hostile Act'

Carrier-Based Pilot Wandered Over Red Territory, Navy Says

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) —Communist antiaircraft batteries today shot down a U S Navy AD Skyraider in the first serious incident reported in the Tachen Islands evacuation of Chinese Nationalists

The Navy said the carrier-based plane had "misnavigated" and possibly had flown over the Red Chinese mainland The pilot ditched four miles west of the Tachens. He and two crew members were picked up by a Nationalist ship. They suffered only minor cuts and bruises.

'Not Hostile Act'

An officer aboard the amphibious flagship USS Estes said the Navy does not consider the incident "a hostile act" because "the AD apparently made too wide a turn and was off-limits "

The pilot's name was given as Lt (J G) W. J. Oheren.

Meanwhile, the U S. Navy completed loading the last organized group of civilian evacuees on South Tachen early today and began taking Nationalist soldiers off the islands. Officers said 13 900 civilians had been removed. A few scattered groups in the hills will be embarked as soon as possible.

At Keelung, a north Formosan port, 3,753 Tachen islanders, debarked and headed for resettlement centers They are the first evacuees to reach Formosa from the threatened islands 200 miles north since the U S. 7th Fleet moved in to cover the operation.

Manning Guns

Although the Reds made no direct move to interfere with the evacuation, it was plain they were manning their guns around the clock.

Yesterday they fired at three carrier-based U S. planes which ventured too close to their batteries One plane, which Vice Adm. Alfred M. Pride, 7th Fleet commander, said "inadvertently came Ike Anticipates Little Effect on Attitude of U.S.

Shakeup of Russian High Command Seen Motivated by Conflict

WASHINGTON (AP) President Eisenhower said today the shakeup in the Soviet high command reflects internal dissatisfaction in Russia.

The President said at a news conference the shakeup will bring no change in basic United States policy aimed at achieving a just and lasting peace.

And, the President said, he does not believe the developments necessarily mean that Russia has launched on a calculated tougher policy toward the United States.

U. S. Must Be Alert

But, he added, the Russians will say anything which suits their purposes and the United States must remain alert

Eisenhower recalled that he became acquainted with Marshal Georgi K Zhukov during World War II and knew him as a competent soldier—a well trained military leader

But Eisenhower said he could scarcely interpret what the appointment of Zhukov as Soviet defense minister means so far as the possibility of world peace is concerned

Most questions at the President's well attended news conference—there were 230 newsmen present—dealt with the reshuffle in the Soviet government.

Major Points

The questions developed these points

ATOMIC WEAPONS—Eisenhower said there certainly is no proof Russia has surpassed the United States in development of the hydrogen bomb and other atomic weapons This was in response to a request for comment on Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov s assertion yesterday that hydrogen bomb development by Russia has been so successful that it could make the United States appear backward in that field

Eisenhower said it would be a remarkable feat if the Soviets have achieved superiority after starting behind the United States He added the matter was not worth speculation

FORMOSA—The chief executive said it would be idle to speculate on the possibility of a cease fire in the Formosa Strait inasmuch as Red China rejected a United Nations bid to discuss the matter and instead issued a very bellicose statement

As for evacuation of the Chinese Nationalist Tachen Islands under protection of the U S 7th Fleet, Eisenhower said it is going according to plan and should be completed soon

Referring to Communist anti-aircraft fire that brought down a U S Navy plane yesterday in the Tachens area, Eisenhower said that was the plane that as he put it, got a little lost—wandered off into a bad area

Ohio Prepares To Amend Aid For Aged Laws

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Senate Health Committee last night took the first step down a path followed by 18 other states—removal of all limits on awards to recipients of aid for the aged

The move—proposed in three separate Senate bills—was described by the state welfare director, Henry J. Robison, as essential if the aid for the aged program is to carry its own responsibilities "

Similar measures have been introduced by Sens Robert A. Pollock (R-Stark) and Arthur Blake (D-Belmont), Charles J. Carney (D-Mahoning) and Joseph H Avellone (D-Cuyahoga). The authors were named to a subcommittee to draft a new bill on which they all could agree

Aid for aged recipients now receive a maximum of $65 a month, far short of their needs if they

Appeals Court Closes Door on Sheppard Bail

Doctor Stays in Jail Cell as Corrigan Loses Move To Grant Bond

CLEVELAND (AP) — Osteopath Samuel Sheppard s chances of obtaining freedom on bail during an appeal of his wife-murder conviction appeared doubtful today

Three Court of Appeals judges, who previously had denied Sheppard bail

1 Refused to send the bail question to the Ohio Supreme Court, and

2 Indicated they would deny bail again, even if assured by the state's high court that Sheppard legally could be released.

Only an appellate court or a trial judge can grant bail, under Ohio law.

The ruling yesterday was on a motion by defense attorney William J. Corrigan that the bail question be certified to the Supreme Court

Corrigan argued the Appellate Court's previous denial of bail conflicted with rulings by other appeals courts in similar cases

Pending the appeal on his second-degree murder conviction, the handsome, 31-year-old doctor is being kept in a cell at county jail

Sheppard was found guilty of fatally bludgeoning his pregnant, 31-year-old wife Marilyn last July 4 He is under a life imprisonment sentence, making him eligible for parole after 10 years

Corrigan said he intends to go to the Supreme Court with the bail question

B36 Crashes, Burns; 2 Killed

18 Injured in Texas as Big Bomber Explodes

FORT WORTH, Tex (AP)—A giant intercontinental B36 bomber exploded and burned last night, killing two men and injuring 18, four seriously.

The plane burst into flames soon after its landing gear touched soft earth at the end of a Carswell Air Force Base runway. Explosions followed

The dead were identified by the Air Force as S Sgt. Gerry Nichols, Malvern, Ark, and A 2 C. Dean Grandquist, Ogden, Utah

The aircraft was from the 95th Bomb Wing, Biggs AFB, El Paso, Tex

Maj Robert Spence Carswell information officer, said wreckage was strewn over a wide area of the runway and that the plane finally came to rest near the center of the landing strip.

Crash crews battled the gasoline-fed flames for an hour.

$359 Million in Construction

Revised Road Program Submitted to Legislature

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— Ohio legislators today get a look at the two-year roadbuilding program of the State Highway Construction Council, estimated to cost $359,360,000.

The road construction plan is a modified form of the plan submitted to the council by the state highway department last Dec. 2

Gov Frank J. Lausche has approved the 1956-1957 highway program, and appropriations by the Legislature will allow start of the plan after July 1, 1955, which starts the 1956 fiscal year.

Add 14 Projects

Highway council modification added 14 projects to the program, deferred six for subsequent consideration, rescheduled eight from one year to another and rejected nine because they called for only resurfacing, and thus are not termed "construction or reconstruction" as required by Ohio law.

The 163 projects include 40 in urban areas, slated to cost $127,946 000, and 123 rural projects, expected to cost $231 414 000

The full program will require legislative appropriation of $250,000,000 in bond funds, the maximum in bonds that may be issued in a two-year period.

The council seeks an additional $27,714,500 for engineering on the program and for planning future highway needs

The council will ask for another 20 million dollars for engineering on projects under proposed expansion of the federal aid program for highways

May Hit 100 Million

Council officials estimate this enhanced federal aid may mean 100 million dollars more per year for Ohio highway construction.

Previous appropriations by the General Assembly have allowed preliminary engineering and land acquisition to begin on some of the projects

The council reported $78,983,720 in major thoroughfare projects already was contracted for, and another $86,383,500 in roadbuilding plans has been approved for contracts completed before next June 30

The council plans to submit a reservoir of projects for future needs. It will ask for authority to

Nehru Urges Chou To Avoid Conflict

LONDON (AP)— India's Premier Nehru today advised Red China against any attempt to grab Formosa by force and asked for strife to work out a peaceful settlement.

Nehru told a news conference the great powers, including Russia and India, were secretly exchanging ideas on how to bring about a cease-fire in the Formosa Strait. But he said no definite approach has yet been agreed upon

Asked to comment upon Peiping Radio's recent assertion that Red China intended to take Formosa as soon as possible, Nehru said:

"Personally, I always think force of this type should be avoided. Settlement should be peaceful, even if it takes time."

Trade War Brewing?

West Awaiting Economic Effects of Soviet Shakeup

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP) — The Russian political and economic shakeup—will it step up a trade war brewing between East and West?

American businessmen in recent weeks have noted signs that the Soviets were fishing more actively in international industrial waters.

Russian gold has been reported once more circulating in some West European markets.

India has been promised a Russian steel mill.

The shift in Russia to more emphasis on heavy industries—while primarily implying more military arms production—will be watched in American business circles for hints the Russians want to wage economic war first.

—:—

AMERICAN BUSINESS hasn't worried too much about Russian competition, since our industrial production capacity is far greater. But in some lines the rate of increase in Russian capacity has been greater then ours in recent years, although they are no where near closing the gap. The interesting things to watch will be:

1. How Russia uses the increased capacity — whether for home consumption or for world trade. Example: Although Soviet steel production is little more than a third that of the United States, and is badly needed by the Russians themselves, Moscow finds political reasons for exporting materials and technicians to India to build a steel mill there.

2. Whether Russia dangles the lure of trade to coax other countries into its orbit—as some in the United States are fearful the Russians and Chinese are doing right now in Japan.

WHILE RUSSIA finds few outsiders interested in taking its rubles in return for their goods, Russia has a large store of gold—how much is a secret, as are most of the economic facts of life behind the Iron Curtain—and Russia is supposed to mine sizable quantities of new gold each year.

From time to time this gold appears in West European markets. The British took quite a bit of it a few months ago, building up their reserves that way, while shipping the Russians some products they wanted.

Russian deals with its Scandinavian neighbors are currently reported being financed by new gold.

The big shakeup in Russia could also bring a change in its trade policy, an urge to win economically as well as just to cause political trouble wherever it can.

Remember the Communist philosophy has always been that if the American economy can be upset, whether from within or without, and another depression brought on then communism will have won the cold war.

The new Russian leaders may put more emphasis on the economic side of that continuing war.

Make yourself an honest man, and then you may be sure there is one rascal less in the world.—Thomas Carlyle

Old-Time Pastor Hits Superficial Christianity

DALLAS (AP)—"There's just too much superficial Christianity in our churches," the Rev. M. V. Clark, 84, of Snyder, Tex., said yesterday.

"Why, I can remember when there were 40 or 50 people all standing at once and shouting their faith — and in a Methodist church, I mean."

This brought a chuckle from the Rev. C. E. Clark, of Houston, 82, a cousin of the Snyder preacher.

"That's right," the Houston parson said. "But if that happened today — half of the congregation would jump up and run off."

The retired circuit riders met unexpectedly at a Methodist ministers' meeting.

Nuns' Prayers Answered

Funds Donated for New Boilers in Home for Aged

SCRANTON, Pa. (AP)—A pair of overage boilers with more patches than a tramp's coat are producing a type of warmth these days that can't be measured by an earthly thermometer.

The boilers are in the basement of the home The Little Sisters of The Poor operated here for 125 aged men and women. The boilers no longer are capable of heating the building properly yet indirectly they have been warming hearts with a radiance born of faith, love and charity.

This is the way it happened:

In the recent zero cold snap the old boilers were taxed to their utmost. Even then the 12 Catholic nuns and their 125 elderly charges shivered day and night.

$25,000 Beyond Reach

Sister Superior Martin Marie and her colleagues had priced a set of boilers and the necessary plumbing. They were told it would cost about $25,000 to install. To a group of nuns who have taken a vow of poverty, it seemed an insurmountable barrier.

On the third day of their shivering the sisters decided to rely on faith—faith in their patron saint.

So they went to the basement of the home, put a long plank across the top of the two old boilers and then reverently placed a statue of St. Joseph on the plank midway between the two wheezing monsters.

With a final look at the statue, they went to their little chapel and addressed special prayers to St. Joseph, beseeching his help. And then, with infinite faith, the nuns placed an order for the new heating system—the $25,000 one.

Editor Uses Story

The story of the Little Sisters of the Poor and their dying boilers was printed in a diocesan paper, the Catholic Light. A Scranton newspaper editor read it and used a small story in his own publication.

That was Jan. 27. The response was instantaneous. Men and women began visiting the home, leaving donations—some quite small, some as much as $1,000. Most of the donors refused to give their names.

Each visit of the postman brought more letters containing money until by yesterday the boiler fund had grown to an impressive $10,796.

Meanwhile the weather warmed slightly and the old boilers were given a little respite but, as the sister superior pointed out, winter is far from over and another prolonged cold spell might well mean their end.

Two weeks ago that threat might have cast a pall over the home and its occupants. Not now, though. The 125 olod folds have more faith these days than they know what to do with.

Mother, Children Overcome by Gas

GALION — Overcome by fumes from gas heaters in an apartment where they were moving Tuesday, a mother and two children were treated at Galion Community Hospital.

Mrs. Lorene Whitman, 31, her daughter, Billie Jean, 11, and son, Douglas, eight months, had been in the home at 215½ N. Union St. for about two hours, when they became ill from the fumes. The eleven-year-old girl was unconscious when she was removed in a car. All were taken to the hospital by a friend of the family.

Galion police received the call at 5:31 p.m. and the fire department was sent to the home to make an investigation. Gas company officials also were notified. They reported that two gas heaters, both vented, but not properly, were giving off fumes.

Mrs. Whitman and her children were treated by a physician at the hospital and then released.

YOUTH'S LICENSE SUSPENDED

A Delaware youth had his driving license suspended for 30 days in juvenile court Tuesday. Phillip B. Hoffman, 17, admitted a charge of reckless driving on Route 4 last month and was ordered not to drive for one month.

There are gains for all our losses, and the football coach who has had a disastrous season at least gets material from it for a funny after-dinner speech.

Man Gives Patrol False Name, Draws Fine of $50, Costs

A Mansfield man, charged with giving false information to state highway patrolmen in an accident investigation, was fined $50 and costs when he appeared before Mount Gilead Mayor Emery Murphy Tuesday.

Patrolmen reported that the man, Orville G. Tackett, 24, also was fined $15 and costs on a charge of operating an automobile without a license.

These charges stemmed from patrol investigation of an accident which occurred Jan. 22 on Route 42 north of Mount Gilead, in which cars driven by Howard Osborne, 46, of near Mount Gilead, and Tackett were involved.

At that time, however, Tackett said his name was Earl R. Haney, 21, of Lucas, patrolmen reported. He was arrested on a charge of driving left of center and was fined $15 and costs by Mayor Murphy on that charge.

Subsequent investigation disclosed Haney was the owner of the car but it was Tackett who was driving it at the time of the accident, patrolmen said.

Prices Secondary In Appliance Sales

CHICAGO (UP) — Couples pay little attention to price when they go shopping for home appliances, one executive says.

Judson S. Sayre, president of an appliance company said during the recent home furnishings shows here, "the American people don't pay half as much attention to prices as most merchandisers think.

"If the appliance is convenient, attractive and work-saving, the public will buy it no matter what the price."

Actually, Sayre said, the trend is toward purchase of more-and-more expensive models as husbands' pay checks increase.

Sayre said the big seller in home appliances this year will be the home dryer. The industry, he said, expects to sell 850,000 during 1955.

He laughed at those experts who predict depression.

"With the high level of income for industrial workers now current, plus their desire to buy many things for their homes, I see nothing in sight to cause such pessimism," he said.

Rabbit Breeders Set Up Fall Show for September

Following the business meeting, refreshments were served by Norabelle Buckner. The next meeting will be at the labor hall on March 7.

House Prowler Found To Be Dog After Shelter

Sounds of a prowler in her basement sent a Marion woman rushing to the telephone early today to call police to look into the matter.

Ellen Foust of 127 Council St. became alarmed when she heard noises in her basement at 12:30 a.m. Police dispatched to the residence, found the prowler to be a large bloodhound, nearly starved, which apparently found a basement window open and went through it to seek refuge from the cold. Police said the dog was removed from the basement and the dog warden notified.

Jail Term Suspended

A 30-year-old Toledo man was given a suspended six months jail term when he was found guilty in Marion Municipal Court Tuesday to a charge of non-support.

The jail term against Warren Sparks was suspended on condition he pay $10 a week to his former wife who lives in Marion for support of his minor children.

Priority Given Libraries Over Municipalities

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Supreme Court held today that county budget commissions must consider the needs of public libraries ahead of municipalities in distributing classified tax funds

The 6-0 decision came in the appeal of Shaker Heights and other municipalities in Cuyahoga County from the 1954 allocation of revenues by the county commission.

The commission, with $6,200,000 to distribute, gave the Cleveland and other libraries $5,164,500 A total of $858,500 went to 58 municipalities.

The state board of tax appeals, citing an Ohio Supreme Court decision in a library case at Dayton, ordered the commission to give libraries in Cuyahoga County what they requested. That resulted in an order to distribute $5,964,500 to the libraries and $235,500 to municipalities.

In the appeal to the court, counsel for the municipalities contended the board failed to consider their needs and allowed libraries more funds than they needed.

Chief Justice Carl V. Weygandt did not participate in the court decision.

Escaped Ohio Convict Among 'Most Wanted'

McDermott, Slayer Of Canton Editor, Put On FBI List of Top 10

WASHINGTON (AP)—The escaped slayer of crusading Ohio editor Don R. Mellett was added today to the FBI's list of "10 most wanted men."

The fugitive is Patrick Eugene McDermott, 56, described by the FBI as "a cold-blooded paid assassin."

McDermott was convicted 29 years ago of the ambush slaying Mellett, editor of the old Canton, Ohio, Daily News, who was shot down near his home

The prosecution charged that McDermott had been employed to commit the crime by Canton underworld elements whose activities were threatened by Mellett's militant newspaper articles concerning an alleged alliance between hoodlums and certain police officials.

McDermott got a life sentence. He had served more than 27 years when he escaped from the Ohio Penitentiary at Columbus last Nov 28. Outside the prison, he robbed a taxicab driver who was forced to drive him out of the area. His conversation then indicated that he was headed for Chicago, the FBI said. He was subsequently charged with crossing state lines, and so became a federal fugitive.

McDermott is described as having a keen intelligence. He has displayed qualifications as a hospital technician, and in addition has worked as a barber, machinst and sign painter.

He is on the short side, but heavily built with brown hair and eyes and a small scar over the left eyebrow. The tip of his left index finger has been amputated.

McDermott went on the "most wanted" list as a replacement for Peter Kenzik, sought for unlawful flight to avoid prosecution for murder, and apprehended at San Diego, Calif, Jan 26.

James O. Welsh of Columbus, Ohio, had his parole revoked and was returned to Ohio Penitentiary for helping McDermott escape. This was disclosed yesterday by the Ohio Pardon and Parole Commission.

Police officials said Welsh, 41, a buddy of McDermott while both were in the penitentiary, left McDermott stay at the New Oakland Hotel in Columbus where Welsh was a room clerk The hotel is in that city's market district. McDermott was believed heading toward Chicago

Welsh was paroled last Aug 25 He was serving a 10-25 year sentence for armed robbery The commission said his parole was revoked until January, 1960.

Friday Night Bus Service on East Side To Be Halted

Discontinuance of Friday night service on the Mt. Vernon Ave. bus route was announced today by Francis Pogue, local manager of the Marion City Lines.

Beginning Friday, Feb 11, last buses on the Mt. Vernon Ave. line will leave at 5 45 p.m. and 6 15 p m. Previously the buses followed the same schedule on Friday nights as buses on other routes in the city.

Reason for cutting off the Friday night service on the Mt. Vernon Ave. route was lack of patronage, Pogue said. Average number of fares for Friday night was 10 to 12, he said.

No other changes in schedule or route of the Mt. Vernon Ave. line is contemplated at this time, he said. The route was started on Dec. 5 on a trial basis to determine if enough persons living in the area would use the service to warrant its continuance

Bulganin Next

Signs of multi-man rule in the Soviet Union are multiplying. The men who may have helped Stalin to die and who killed Beria outright are using a political platoon system. The era of personal dictatorship is over.

The significance of Malenkov's retirement from the premiership in favor of Bulganin is the fact the Politburo let him retire, instead of killing him. The Communists apparently are not afraid of Malenkov. That is why they let him be premier in the first place.

They must not be afraid of Bulganin, either, who was built up by Stalin as a military figure, although he never was anything but a political commissar allowed to wear a general's uniform.

The best assumption now seems to be that Khrushchev has become the key personality in Russia. Khrushchev has been responsible for agriculture, the weakest link in the chain of Kremlin-managed economy, however.

So when Malenkov admitted in his swan song that agriculture had been too much for him, he was putting Khrushchev on the hottest spot in Russian politics.

Neither Marx nor the men who twisted his preachments to their uses after the Russian counter-revolution killed off the Marxists and replaced them with Leninists and Stalinists knew or cared about farming. The agricultural population of the Soviet Union has remained bitterly hostile and potentially dangerous to ignorant politicans with thoughts only of industrial production and political dogma.

Stalin is dead, his successor has been permitted to retire because of "lack of experience" after less then two years as premier, and the third man to hold the job is not taken seriously even at the outset. Time changes all things, even in Russia.

Licked on a Technicality

The state of Ohio, spurred on by the necessity of buying back its own relief money from Washington with 100 per cent obedience to federal rules and regulations, has reluctantly whipped Harrison County into line. No one is celebrating.

It was not a great victory. The five members of the Ohio Supreme Court who administered the final coup de grace to Harrison County for refusing to knuckle under to federal rules must have been as sick about it as the two judges who had no stomach for the ruling and dissented from it.

All the judges must have felt what everybody else has been feeling about this field test of local rights vs. the federal juggernaut — that Ohio was paying too high a price for the $3,000,000 some arrogant Washington bureaucrats might withhold because the Harrison County commissioners insisted they didn't want their county's share — about $400.

Freedom can be taken away from sovereign people only by technicalities; they never surrender it knowingly. A little freedom has been taken away by a technicality in Ohio.

Booby Traps

Police cars broadcast warnings about unsafe heaters in New York City streets after fires had killed nine persons in one day during the cold wave.

All over the country, the same danger has been dramatized by outbreaks of fires that have trapped helpless persons in houses and apartments and burned them to death. Most of the victims have been children.

The cause of the fires is so obvious it could be blue-printed. Any fire inspector could spot it in a casual inspection.

It is a heating appliance that will be overtaxed when there is a sudden drop in the temperature. Even in ordinary use, the appliance is dangerous because of faulty provisions for insulating nearby walls and floors, the danger of explosion, or failure to provide safe flues. In extraordinary use, the thing turns into an active hazard.

Hundreds of these lethal booby traps come to light every time there are a few days of severely cold weather. Thousands more continue to exist, on the borderline of disaster.

File and Remember

The break in coffee prices is being taken as a matter of course. There will be no congressional investigation of cheaper coffee.

But if experience is a good teacher, the lesson taught by coffee should be learned thoroughly. It could save American consumers untold amounts of money in the future.

The break in coffee prices was made possible and inevitable by the simplest device within the power of the consumer—his own restraint. Coffee exports from Brazil during 1954 were the smallest they have been since 1943—less than 11 million bags, against 15½ million in 1953 and nearly 16 million in 1952.

It could be said that consumers accepted literally the Brazilian explanation that the coffee crop had been disappointing and a shortage of coffee accounted for the price inflation that carried coffee past a dollar a pound. But that would have to be said in sarcasm, because what actually happened was that consumers decided to protect themselves against a sharp rise in coffee prices by a sharp decline in their use of coffee.

There never has been a commodity price rise either justified or unjustified that could not have been offset by a decline in the use of the commodity to restore a balance of supply and demand.

The Matusow Paradox

By David Lawrence

Full Story of Lie May Unlock New Sensation

There's great glee these days among the Communists because Harvey Matusow, a former Communist, now says he lied in his testimony which helped to convict some Communists in the federal courts and reflected on many a person he mentioned in congressional hearings. The Department of Justice had subpenaed him to go before a grand jury and tell his new story under oath.

If one ex-Communist can be discredited, then presumably all are discredited — that's the new Communist line, and it is regrettable that so many well-meaning people have fallen for the trick. Attorney General Brownell says the incident is being made the subject of world-wide propaganda by the Communists.

The last chapter in the Matusow case hasn't been written and, when it is, there may be some blushes on the faces of those who now are so exultant. It isn't established as yet, for example, just what induced Matusow to say now that he has been lying. Nor is it clear yet that he was not telling the truth in the first place.

Something of the same mystery surrounds the case of Dr. J. Robert Oppenheimer, who was never proved to be a Communist, although he did admit under oath that he had supported financially some Communist-front organizations.

THE NOTED SCIENTIST, moreover, acknowledged that he had lied to his own government about certain Soviet efforts to get atomic information from him and that several months elapsed before he would admit that he had lied.

This doesn't seem to have affected the evaluation of Dr. Oppenheimer by many scientists. Indeed, a branch of the Ford Foundation is spending money nowadays to finance a television script made by Dr. Oppenheimer recently which is being distributed to many colleges and educational institutions.

Evidently lying to one's own government doesn't make much difference to modern "intellectuals."

Apparently in some quarters Dr. Oppenheimer is being glorified as a martyr who allegedly is the victim of a persecution by the four naughty members of the Atomic Energy Commission who voted 4-to-1 to deny him access to secret information in the government's possession.

There are people in the government, however, who think Dr. Oppenheimer never did lie in the first place but changed his story when he told it the second time.

The facts probably will never be known, and the only thing available is the published record with the scientist's own words given in official testimony last year.

After a long cross-examination about the information he had given intelligence officers of the U.S. Army who were on the track of a case of espionage involving persons who had approached Dr. Oppenheimer, the scientist remarked: "Then I invented a cock-and-bull story."

DURING INTERROGATION by counsel for the personnel security board of the Atomic Energy Commission, the testimony runs as follows:

Counsel: Now let us go back to your interview with Col. Pash (Aug. 26, 1943). Did you tell Pash the truth about this thing?

Oppenheimer: No.

Counsel: You lied to him?

Oppenheimer: Yes . . .

Counsel: Let us move along to your interview with Col. Lansdale, on Sept. 12—

Oppenheimer: Right.

Counsel: Did you tell him substantially the same story you told Col. Pash?

Oppenheimer: I don't know whether he repeated it to me or I repeated it to him.

Counsel: In all events, if he repeated it to you—

Oppenheimer: I did not modify it.

Counsel: You affirmed it as the truth?

Oppenheimer: Yes.

Counsel: So you lied to him, too?

Oppenheimer: That is right."

WHY DO MEN LIE to their own government? What standard do they apply to themselves, and why do their fellow men so often condone such offenses and seek to vilify the government officials who in performance of their duty cast liars out of the government?

Maybe morals mean less and less in the present age among those who have an ideological devotion to the Machiavellian cause wherein the end always justifies the means.

Hail to Dick Nixon

By TRUMAN TWILL

More personal piffle:

Most of us stand in greater need of 15 minutes a day of belly laughter than 15 minutes a day of book learning.

I get the shakes every time a pundit tells the world what the Chinese or the Russians are going to do. The only thing that saves me is to remember that no one takes pundits seriously any more.

Every time I start to say the name of the vice president of the United States I have to think first: Is it Nick Dixon or Dick Nixon?

Was that popping sound from lids being flipped in Buckingham Palace when pictures arrived of the Princess Margaret in the fall-away dress that looked as if someone was standing on the hem?

If GOP soothsayers don't really know whether President Eisenhower would be willing to bail out the Republicans by running again in 1956, hadn't they better quit explaining why he is the only possible candidate?

If you want to know what's wrong with the ordinary run of television plays, listen to all that suffering and wailing from the next room, where you can't see the agony. It sounds ridiculous.

Before anyone can talk about the Constitution with this red-blooded so-and-so, they have to promise to sit down quietly and read it from beginning to end, which for most of them would be the first time.

Women apparently take a great deal of pride in being able to beat up a batch of sour buckwheat cakes. When buckwheat cakes were mentioned in this column recently, recipes were forthcoming promptly and will be tried.

Newspapermen are chuckling about the way the showmen tried to take over the White House press conferences as soon as they got their feet in the door. The facts behind appearances will continue to be the happy hunting ground for newspapers, the same as always.

One of the unsolved mysteries of our time: Why it is impossible for any public authority to put up a building it can afford to pay for, instead of having to put up the kind of building the architects and builders prefer?

I do not understand the practice of introducing orchestra leaders on television shows that do not feature orchestral music.

It could happen today and don't bet it won't—that someone with an eye on the outdoors will report the first robin.

The most provocative article on the two-party system likely to be published in 1955 is by Samuel Lubell in the current Saturday Evening Post.

It is my hunch that if the real story were told, the United States is having more trouble right now with Chiang Kai-shek than it is having with Chou En-lai.

People who wonder what "automation" means need look no further than the thermostat which controls the heating system of a house. The old-fashioned draft-and-damper controls operated by hand from the first floor was a labor saver. A thermostat is automation. It's that simple.

If Mendes-France is feeling blue, he should remember what happened to Winston Churchill, who was thrown overboard for the same reason—because he was too strong, not because he was too weak.

Marion County History Brevities

By EDNA S. DUTTON

There were approximately 75 churches in the town of Marion in 1883. The exact number of members in the various denominations was not known, although it was estimated that about 27 per cent of the population were enrolled in some church. The strongest denominations in point of membership were Methodists, Free Will Baptists, Lutherans, Evangelical, Presbyterians, German Reformed, Catholics and United Brethren. There was one Universalist Church in the county at Caledonia and two Christian churches, one in Marion and one at Letimberville, now Kirkpatrick.

Another good break the pioneers had was that when the Indians offered them the peace pipe they didn't also get a 2-minute commercial on its mellow, roasted, mild-yet-vigorous aroma and the coupon on the back.

Mail Storm Overtaking Summerfield

By David Barnett

The Post Office Department's experimental use of airlines to carry regular first - class mail is headed for stormy weather.

The dark clouds result from three main factors:

1. The United States District Court for the District of Columbia has ruled that Postmaster General Summerfield does not have the power to order "prolonged experimental dispatch of first class mail by air without congressional sanction."

2. Congressional sanction may be difficult to obtain from a Democratic Congress which is politically reluctant to see much good in Republican innovations.

3. Even if Summerfield can convince congressmen that the experimental service is not adding to the postal deficit, the issue will probably get mixed up with the question of over-all public policy on transportation.

The experiment, started first on the Washington - New York run in October, 1953, was designed to test the feasibility of using surplus space on aircraft common carriers to transport regular mail. Later, it was extended to the Southeast and to the Midwest and, last November, to the West Coast.

THE WEST COAST operation differed in purpose, according to the Post Office Department, in that it was to test the feasibility of the plan over a long, mountainous terrain.

Because only "surplus" space on the airliners was used, the Civil Aeronautics Board established compensation rates for the airlines at levels much lower than those set for carrying regular airmail.

The CAB rate order, scheduled to expire last Sept. 30, was extended for another year.

The court ruling, made from the bench by Judge James R. Kirkland, Jan. 28, was in a case brought by the five major railroad lines running from the Middle West to the Pacific Coast.

The court said that, as a matter of law, under the grant of moneys by Congress to operate the Post Office, Summerfield had the right to experiment "in an effort to improve the efficiency and economy of the mail."

Prolonged experimentation, however, "which by the running of time demonstrated that the knowledge acquired by the experiment has been received," involves usurpation of the legislative function and is unlawful, the ruling decrees.

THE RAILROADS that brought the case, the judge noted, are affected only by the West Coast experiment, which was not started until last November.

Judge Kirkland ruled, in effect, that the West Coast experiment was proper, "limited in that it shall not be unduly prolonged," and refused to issue a permanent injunction to stop it.

The ruling, however, left the door open for the railroads to sue, if the experiment is prolonged and if the roads can show "irreparable injury."

The ruling also touches on the transportation policy issue.

"The public interest in this matter," the court held, "is of a greater compass than the sheer economy of money or the saving of time.

"In these modern days with modern transportation and with all the drawbacks that the poor old lumbering freight car has, it is still the backbone of the American system of transportation.

"If one starts to cut off the tentacles of a great transportation system, then the strength that came through those tentacles will disappear and the main trunk and backbone will suddenly develop economic arthritis.

"IN THAT BROADER sense I would doubt that the public interest would be paramount where you are saving time or money, but this court is going to rule that the public interest is of such compass that it will have to be virtually a matter of congressional delimitations to spell out the public interest as against that clash of which is better for the country, transportation by rail or transportation by air."

President Eisenhower has set up a special cabinet - level committee to work out a transportation policy for the country. The report of the committee, although completed, has not been made public.

Government Guidebook

By Raymond Moley

Unlike the Commission on Intergovernmental Relations headed for a time by Clarence E. Manion, the Hoover Commission on Organization of the Executive Branch of the Federal Government is a creation of Congress. The Manion group was an executive matter. The Hoover Commission reports directly to Congress. Only four of the 12 members were appointed by the president.

This Hoover Commission, moreover, operates under a broader grant of power than its predecessor, which was created by a Republican Congress in 1947 and which reported in 1949.

The former commission had no substantial authority to bring into question the desirability of any function then performed by the federal government. It was not to question why, but only inquire how!

The present commission interprets its authority in these words of its Progress Report of Dec. 31, 1954: "The Commission decided to undertake the work enjoined upon it by its enabling act by making an exhaustive investigation of certain broad functions of the government and by considering questions of policy as well as those of organization and operation."

Its method of operation, however, has resembled that of the original group. It has 13 task forces drawn from distinguished people in all fields of inquiry, and each task force has a small but experienced staff.

The question of authority to go into questions of policy as well as operation is vital.

While it is important to save a relatively small amount of money by recommending better methods of doing what the government is now doing, it is vastly more important to bring into question whether many of the things that government does should be done at all.

Some members of the task forces have been somewhat in doubt, however, about recommending matters of policy now that the Democratic party is in control of Congress. Since the Democratic party is responsible for the original policy decisions which launched the federal government into so many of its present functions, they wonder how far any recommendations of policy can go.

The terms of the act creating the commission seem clearly to place policy within its scope. Among other things, the duties of the commission include:

"Recommending methods and procedures for reducing expenditures to the lowest amount consistent with the efficient performance of essential services, activities and functions. . ."

This would seem to grant the power to interpret what are "essential services, and functions. . ."

The commission is also authorized to recommend the elimination of "nonessential services, functions and activities which are competitive with private enterprise."

Such a grant of power is indeed a necessary one. For a vast amount of government business is being conducted which should be in private hands.

There will be screams from the Social Democrats in Congress when any such recommendations are made.

Regardless of what disposition this Congress may make of the final Hoover report, it should be, for a long time to come, a standard to which lovers of economy and enemies of supergovernment can repair.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Room for Improvement

We have been giving further study to President's TV press conferences and can conclude that with the novelty worn off, will threaten no big time channel show in the present form. The second one was somewhat better than the first, but "Best of Broadway" "This is Your Life" and "The Honeymooners" are still safe.

Ike displays assurance and talent, but can't help wondering what Franklin D. Roosevelt would have done on a telecast press conference. TV would have been up his alley.

He would have worked the old personality smile, the center-ring jauntiness, injected plenty of hokum, grabbed every chance for a laugh and used the question-tossers as vaudeville "straight men."

Harry S. Truman would have been no sensation, even with coaching from Margaret and Jimmy Durante. But he might have been good for some fireworks through colorful explosions. Herbert Hoover would have gone nowhere on TV. Coolidge would have been a combination of Fred Allen in a deep sulk and Elmer Davis on a dead circuit. Harding had a show biz personality. Teddy Roosevelt? There's a President who was cut to order for a television show. He would have reveled in it, riding into the press conference in full uniform and on horseback. His "de-light-ed" would have constituted a theme and trademark all performers seek. The press conference might even have been opened with "And now, Teddy Rides Again."

Ike's last press meeting program fell somewhere between "Creative Cookery" and "George Hamilton Combs" on one side and "Early Bird Matinee" and "The World of Mr. Sweeney" on the other. We still think that if a presidential press conference is to hold any TV audience it must be jazzed up. His secretary, Mr. Hagerty, was plainly visible in the last one, but did nothing to help put the show over. It seems to us he could at least juggle Indian clubs.

Complete flops so far on the Washington telecast are the correspondents, many of whom have genuine top-entertainment ratings. (We know one who does a one-man imitation of Smith & Dale, and another who can lift a 200-pound weight off the floor with his teeth.) Think how public interest would be stirred if a voice from the newspaper group said, "Art Carney of the Blythedale Recorder-Gazette!" Suppose the audience heard, "George Gobel, Stony Creek News: What's become of the 100-cent dollar, Mr. President? You can't hardly get them no more!"

We hope that at his next press conference Ike will have the first question fired by the June Taylor Dancers. And we would like to see the President show a little more spirit, a la Gleason. . . Replying to "How soon do you expect to balance the budget?" with "Oh-h-h you're a mental case!" and responding to any particularly embarrassing quizzer with "One of these days. . . pow!"

The Men's Tie Foundation (yes, there is such a group) is promoting sending neckties as valentines. . . ("If you love me as I love you this crazy tie will have to do.") Sen. McClellan is dropping seven staff members put on under McCarthy. . . Since it was only a few days ago he announced he would vigorously pursue the hunt for subversives, the cry would seem to be "Full speed ahead, with as little help as possible!"

Russia will build a steel plant in India. . . Chance for Mr. Nehru to do the rope trick on a molten bar?

Just heard of a clergyman who got confused and asked, "Do you take this woman for better or Formosa?"

Guvnor Harriman says he is for pay-as-you-go taxes. . . Yeah, but how far can a guy go on a tax of 6 cents per gallon?

Comment on the Serge Rubinstein will: "Never were so many blondes cut off with so little.". . . Funny mix-up on Art Linkletter program the other day when the TV commercials got jumbled, with "Do you skip a bath some days. Then here is what to do" from a soap commercial switching into "Get this box with the thirteen-egg mix" from a cake pitch.

Speaking of commercials we understand a big gold supply house wants to sponsor Ike's future press conference telecasts.

Texan Waging Losing Fight in Saving Forest

SILSBEE, Tex (UP) — A retired railroad conductor who is dedicating most of his time to preservation of a thicket is afraid his efforts are doomed.

Actually, he is beating the drums for no ordinary thicket. This one covers 3,300,000 acres in southeastern Texas.

The retired railroad conductor, R. E Jackson, president of the Big Thicket Association, says botanists and scientists have told him there are more rare species of plant life in the huge thicket than can be found in the same area any place else in the world.

The area centers in Hardin and southern Polk and Tyler Counties It has a dense growth of hardwoods, including cypress, tupelo, black gum, willow, water oak and magnolia. Palmetto, water lily, hyacinth and rare orchids are also found in the interior.

In places, the untamed jungle-like area has such dense growth that men have been known to become lost and never be seen again

On the edge of the Big Thicket, as Texans call the area, is the state's only Indian reservation. The Alabama and Coushatta tribes live there, but only about 300 of them live on the reservation proper.

Jackson, as president of the association he set up 28 years ago, has spent much of his own money and time making trips to Washington and to Austin to plead with legislators for acts preserving the thicket for posterity

He has made little or no progress. He said he was told no funds are available for such projects.

His fight, he believes, has already been partially lost. Roadways have been cut into the heart of the thicket. Timber is being cut down ruthlessly. Oil exploration teams have invaded the area, cutting down and destroying rare plants and trees.

Jackson fears the area will be ruined before he can win his fight to have it declared a national or state park

Some Houston nature - lovers may be the key to preservation of many of the rare plants. They have formed what they call the "Little Thicket Association" and are digging up some of the plants on acreage they purchased on the fringe of the thicket. Some of the plants are being transplanted for cultivation.

Jackson, too, is doing his best to preserve a few rare species. He has explored the area thoroughly and now has some of the rarest of the plants transplanted in his back yard.

He feels the forest is lost. Now he's just trying to save a few of the trees.

Announce New Way to Relieve Pain of Arthritis and Rheumatism Without Pills!

Greaseless, odorless cream penetrates deep—speeds up flow of fresh, rich blood into sore areas—actually helps drive away pain-causing congestion and pressure.

New York, N. Y. (Special)—Science has now developed an odorless, greaseless cream that acts in a new way to bring a new kind of relief from pains of arthritis, rheumatism, and muscular aches and pains. This new cream relieves these pains without the need of taking pills and other internal medicines that may only upset the system.

Gently rubbed into painful areas, this cream penetrates so deep and completely that it actually vanishes. Quickly a comforting feeling of warmth develops and the whole painful area takes on a pleasing glow. This is striking evidence of the power of this cream to penetrate quickly and stimulate the circulation of the blood. This glow illustrates how it speeds up the flow of fresh, rich blood into the sore areas and actually helps drive away the pain-causing congestion and pressure.

146 British and French doctors are so satisfied with this new help for patients suffering from arthritis and rheumatism that they have prepared written reports of success based on hundreds of cases. Further, one of the leading arthritis and rheumatism clinicians in the United States has now confirmed the findings of these doctors.

Now for the first time this remarkable cream can be obtained without a prescription at drug stores throughout America—under the name InfraRUB®. The price of InfraRUB is only 98¢ for a large tube. InfraRUB is backed by the amazing guarantee that sufferers from the pains of arthritis, rheumatism, lumbago, neuritis, neuralgia or muscle injuries or sprains will get hours and hours of comforting relief or their money will be refunded in full.

Cardington Names Official To Attend Pollution Meeting

CARDINGTON — At its regular session Monday night, Cardington Village Council held a joint meeting with the village trustees.

Council voted to send village solicitor, Dwight Collins, to the scheduled meeting this week in Columbus with the legislative service commission in regards to the water pollution problem. At a recent meeting with the commission, some 300 rural communities were represented, including Cardington, which was represented by Collins, Mayor Don Healea and three Councilmen, C. M. Poorman, N. M. Maxwell and Kenneth Jones.

At that meeting, the problem of financing approved sewerage systems was discussed and various village representatives expressed the belief that the cost of such disposal systems is out of the reach of the small villages. The state commission offered no immediate solution to the problem, but is planning to make further studies for giving financial aid to the villages.

Milton Poorman, whose term had expired, was re-elected to membership on the board of cemetery trustees, at the Monday night Council session.

Turn Structural Defects Into Assets

What you consider a structural defect can often be turned into a decorative asset. Take those recessed spaces formed by jutting closet walls. To try to camouflage this space by placing a sofa or love seat across it kitty-corner not only wastes space—it spoils the decorative composition of the entire room.

Make Them Beautify The Room

You can utilize this space profitably and at the same time add distinctiveness to your room by placing a secretary flat against the wall in the recessed space. Colorful book jackets on shelves will brighten up the entire corner. Use upholstery on small desk chair to introduce color accent.

Whatever type of room you're planning—a smart sophisticated Modern room—or one of practical traditional elegance, we have the furniture that fits your plan. We cordially invite you to come in and make unhurried selections.

Water Supplies Over Ohio Rise In Most Areas

Early Shortage in '54 Offset by Heavy Rains During Last 3 Months

COLUMBUS — The Ohio water situation, although serious throughout most of the year, showed vast improvement during the final three months of 1954, according to the year-end report of the Ohio Division of Water.

The report states that the available water was less in 1954 than for many years, but the situation was improving in the last three months. At the end of the year groundwater levels were rising and showed more promise of normal winter replenishment than for the past three years.

There was a deficiency of water both in streamflow and in underground reservoirs at the beginning of the year as a result of deficient rainfall in the preceeding two years. During the months of January, February, and March, 1954, when high streamflow is usually experienced and when groundwater reservoirs usually are replenished, there was little or no recharge to ground water and steam flow remained much below normal.

Rainfall, slightly above normal in March and April, did produce some minor improvement in the general situation. Ground water reached the highest levels of the year in May but were still below the 5 year average levels for the same period.

Throughout the summer, ground water levels declined. This decline was mitigated to some extent, but not halted, by heavy precipitation in August. The first significant improvement occurred as a result of very heavy rainfall over the state in October. Stream flow was above normal and the decline of ground water levels was halted. Both stream flow and ground water conditions have been more nearly normal since October than at any time in the past year.

Rainfall for the year varied widely over the state. In general the northern part of the state received more than normal and the southern part less than normal precipitation. Of the index precipitation gages, Cleveland reported the greatest excess and Dayton the greatest deficiency.

The departures from normal precipitation ir inches for the index gages for the year 1954 are Cleveland plus 7.71, Akron-Canton airport plus 1.56, Toledo plus 0.95, Youngstown plus 0.08, Chillicothe minus 0 64, Columbus minus 3.37, Cincinnati minus 4.77, Dayton minus 5.16. October was the only month in which all the above stations reported excessive rainfall.

The report adds that although the water situation was more critical in 1954 than in previous years faced with serious water shortages than last year. This is probably because measures taken to meet shortages in 1952 and 1953 have increased facilities to the point where the shortage this year no longer represented a crisis. This indicates that proper planning and more effective use of the water resources available even in a lean year can do much toward insuring an adequate water supply.

Ohio Farm Econogram

Report on Prices and Economic Trends Prepared by Agricultural Extension Service

General business talk continues to be encouraging. Unemployment problem not presently acute, production up, incomes remaining high, cause some talk in terms of slight inflation in 1955 rather than continued recession. An outbreak of fighting involving the U.S. in the Far East might change economic situation very quickly.

Corn allotments for 1955 crop announced at 49.8 million acres in the U.S. commercial corn growing area. This will be an increase of around eight per cent over 1954. Last year in the U.S. there were 834 counties in 22 states coming under allotments. This year there are 805 commercial corn counties in 21 states.

To receive price supports, on corn and to benefit from ACP payments, farmers in commercial corn areas need to stay within allotments. In non-commercial counties there will be no allotments but price support will be only three-quarters of that in commercial counties.

Ohio corn acreage allotments will be increased between eight and nine per cent. Ohio has 68 commercial counties and 20 designated as "non-commercial." The increase will not be exactly the same for all counties nor the same within counties. Such things as acreage trends, and crop rotations will be considered, according to the USDA.

The non-commercial corn counties in Ohio are: Ashtabula, Athens, Belmont, Carroll, Columbiana, Cuyahoga, Gallia, Geauga, Guernsey, Harrison, Jefferson, Lake, Mahoning, Meigs, Monroe, Noble, Portage, Summit, Trumbull, Washington. All others are "commercial."

Purchases of dairy products by the government through its price support operations are running considerably below a year ago. Total purchases in January were 60 per cent below Jan. 1954.

Butter owned by government Jan. 1, 1955 totalled 294 million pounds compared with 252 million a year earlier, an increase of 17 per cent. Total butter stocks were 378 million this January compared to 282 million last year, or an increase of 34 per cent.

Foreign trade in wheat may be strengthened by increased interest in Japan for American grains. That country is a large potential market, according to a recent foreign agricultural circular.

Long range weather outlook for Ohio through February: Temperatures, much below normal; Precipitation, moderate over most of state.

Best January Dairy Herds in County Listed

There were 862 cows on production test in Marion County in January, Ellwood Parrott, county agent announced today. Of those tested, 536 cows from 23 herds were on Dairy Herd Improvement Test and 326 cows in 20 herds were on Owner-Sampler test. Cows on DHIA test produced an average of 992 pounds of milk and 35 pounds of butterfat per cow, while those on Owner-Sampler test produced an average of 828 pounds of milk and 33 pounds of butterfat.

There were 100 fewer cows on test this January than in 1954. The reduction was caused by the dispersal of some larger herds in the county. Farmers who wish to begin DHIA testing may do so by contacting the extension office or the production tester Howard Cole.

Production testing is the most accurate way for farmers to keep the records demanded by recent regulations, Parrott said. The program here is sponsored by the Marion County Dairy Service Unit Cooperative and is under supervision of Ohio State University.

George L. Earl of Claridon Township was recently awarded a certificate by the Ohio Dairyman's Association for owning a cow which has produced over 4,000 pounds of butterfat in her lifetime, Parrott said. The cow, River Crescent Marie Snow, has produced 121,690 pounds of milk and 4,169 pounds of fat in six years, 11 months.

Following are the herds on Dairy Herd Improvement test which produced 40 pounds of fat:

	Cows	Milk	Fat
P. Lawrence & Sons	45	1,446	52
Marlow Zachman	20	1,370	50
William Earl	17	1,291	42
F. D. Lawrence & Sons	35	1,137	41
L. J. Cusick Son	16	1,151	40

Following are the top five herds on Owner-Sampler test:

	Cows	Milk	Fat
Alfred Laucher	21	1,296	47
Berton Carter	27	1,070	39
Floyd Cluff	22	1,045	38
Joe Mehaffey	19	1,016	36
Robert H. Williams	18	972	36

Parrott also gave the lactation report for January. Owners, breed, pounds of milk and pounds of butterfat follow: Gomer Johnson and Sons, five-year-old Holstein, 18,040 and 578; Kenneth Wilson, 12-year-old Holstein, 16,950 and 536; F. D. Lawrence and Sons, six-year-old Holstein, 14,760 and 533; Gomer Johnson and Son, seven-year-old Holstein, 14,760 and 530; H. W. Price and Son, seven-year-old Brown Swiss, 12,690 and 520.

A report from the Northern Ohio Breeders Association in Tiffin revealed that there were 167 first services and 120 other services in Marion County during December.

Policy Change Expected

Tougher Russian Policy Seen in Kremlin Shakeup

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — For 23 months the Russians, almost as if their Communist drive had forsaken them, soft - talked and lost ground while the younger Chinese Communist party talked tough, acted tough and got places.

Now suddenly the Russian Reds throw out their prince of sweet-talkers, Premier Malenkov, who after all had only said what they wanted him to say. And now they growl like a bear again.

If they step up pressures in the West while the Chinese keep the heat on in the East, the West will find itself in a nutcracker, facing the choice perhaps of yielding or slugging back more grimly than it has yet.

Stalin had blundered before he died March 5, 1953. The West was poorly armed. South Korea looked like a pushover. Stalin let the North Korean Communists attack it. The invasion shocked the West into unity and faster rearmament.

The North Koreans would have lost and world communism's prestige would have suffered if the Red Chinese, willing to lose men by the hundreds of thousands, hadn't jumped into Korea where they eventually forced the West into a truce.

MALENKOV, SUCCESSOR to Stalin and mouthpiece for the Russian Communist party, sounded milder than his old boss. The party perhaps thought soft talk might undo the damage done by Stalin, lulling the West to sleep again.

Besides, President Eisenhower was new in office, pledged to seeking peace in Korea. With the United States anxious to avoid war, the Russians may have felt it a good time to try to make progress with syrup instead of guns.

Malenkov talked of coexistence between East and West. In time Eisenhower and Prime Minister Churchill also endorsed the idea of coexistence.

But the Russians didn't gain anything, in real estate or diplomacy. Instead, they suffered a setback when the West agreed to rearm Germany. It was the biggest Russian reverse since Stalin's death.

MEANWHILE, THE Red Chinese followed an opposite line and got plenty under the leadership of their tough - talking foreign minister, Chou En-lai. They not only got the truce in Korea but forced the West into truce in Indochina, where they got half of Viet Nam and eventually may get it all.

Then, when Chou began making threats about invading Formosa, the Eisenhower administration let him have two of Chiang Kai-shek's islands off the China coast. The Red Chinese, 23 months after Stalin's death, are stronger, harder, more feared, in Asia at least, then before Stalin died.

Time will show whether Malenkov was axed in a Kremlin power struggle or had outlived his soft-talking usefulness and was removed by the party to dramatize a change in its policy.

But two things are definite from yesterday's events the Russians will put more effort into heavy industry, which produces guns, and Foreign Minister Molotov switched from Malenkov's sugar words to angry talk toward the West.

History of Immigrant Inscribed on Monument

AVOCA, Wis. (UP) — In fewer words than required to write this story, the history of one man's fight for freedom is inscribed in a country churchyard here.

It tells how Wincenty Dalewamowski forsook great wealth to become a common laborer but a free man in America.

A seven-foot high monument to Dalewamowski, a Pole, bears this inscripuon:

"Born a nobleman of great wealth, Wincenty Dalewamowski embraced in 1830 the tenets of the Polish revolution.

"His cause defeated, his wealth confiscated, he secured exile to America from Nicholas of Russia through the intercession of his friend, Ferdinand of Austria. Sailed from Thiest, November, 1832. Arrived in New York, March, 1834.

"Began his trek westward May 21, 1835. Engaged as a smelter of ore with William S. Hamilton of Galena, Nov. 17, 1835. On Sept. 4, 1838, he took up his first tract of government land, now Avoca.

"He became an American in spirit as well as by adoption. . ."

Membership in the club is limited to those who can prove that they would have lost the sight of one or both eyes in an industrial accident if they had not been wearing safety glasses. Irish Cagers Capture 52-39 Win Against Johnsville

Fredericktown Will Close Season Action Here Friday

By JOHN SHORT

After a slow first half, St. Mary pulled out front in the third period last night to down Johnsville 52-39 at the Harding High School gymnasium.

The invading Johnnies managed to stay on the heels of the local quintet throughout the first half of play. St. Mary jumped into an early lead when Roger Micheli popped in three field goals in the first period. John Smith added a fielder and a pair of charity tosses to give St. Mary a 10-7 lead at the end of the period.

After Jerry Ballenger boosted the margin to 12-7 with a pair of foul shots at the start of the second period, Lyle Snavely led a Johnsville rally when he dropped in a set shot from the corner and added three out of four foul attempts. The visitor took the lead 14-12 with 4:21 left in the period.

BALLENGER and Smith dropped in fielders to regain the lead for the Irish but Johnsville refused to play dead and the halftime score was deadlocked at 20-20.

Dalton Stewart pushed his mates ahead with a foul shot to open the second half before Micheli hit on a pair of jump shots and Johnny Messenger scored on a drive-in to push St. Mary into a 24-21 lead. However, Stewart dropped in a pair of fouls and a set shot to give the Johnnies their last lead at 25-24. Messenger's lay-up put the Irish ahead for keeps with the score reaching 28-25. He and Ballenger led the Irish scoring to increase the margin to 40-34 at the end of the third period. The Irish clinched the verdict in the final two minutes of that period by outscoring the invaders 8-2.

The Johnsville attack faltered during the final quarter and the Johnnies managed only five points. Snavely netted the only field goal for the losers after 1:38 had passed in the period. For the rest of the way, the Irish defense stopped the Morrow County squad.

MICHELI took individual scoring honors with 17 points, on eight field goals and a single charity throw. Ballenger finished with 12 and Smith collected 11. Snavely with 16 was high for the losers while Stewart posted 9 and Don Rinehart scored 8. The Irish outscored the Johnnies from the field 20-11 but the losers held a 17-12 edge at the foul line.

The win boosts the Irish season record to 13 wins and six losses. It was the 11th loss of the campaign for Johnsville against eight wins.

The St. Mary reserves copped the preliminary contest 41-36. It was the 14th win for the future Irish against three setbacks.

Dick Mounts and Bill Robbins topped the attack of Dan Smith's charges with 10 points each. Bill Mitchell was high for the losers with 15.

St. Mary will wind up its regular season Friday night when it plays host to Fredricktown, 68-61 victors over Mount Gilead last night. The Freddies are sporting a 16-1 record for the season.

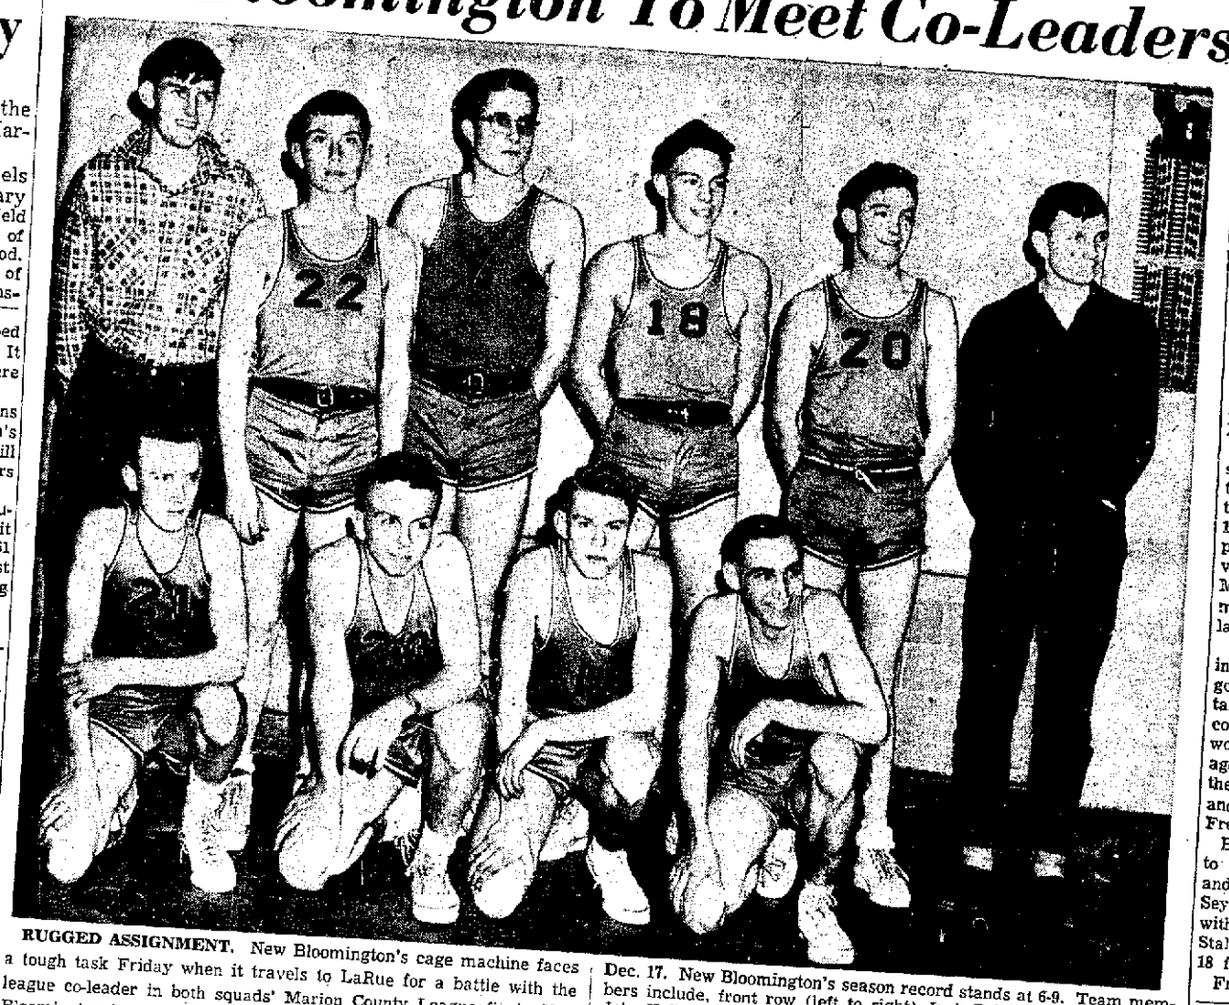
New Bloomington To Meet Co-Leaders



RUGGED ASSIGNMENT. New Bloomington's cage machine faces a tough task Friday when it travels to LaRue for a battle with the league co-leader in both squads' Marion County League final. New Bloomington is currently tied for ninth spot in the league standings with Waldo with a 2-7 mark and will be shooting to tie Morral and Green Camp for seventh place. Coach Tommy Cropper's cagers have dropped six straight league starts since whipping Martel 67-40 on Dec. 17. New Bloomington's season record stands at 6-9. Team members include, front row (left to right) Jack Brinkley, Richard Lyon, John Kalb and Buford Schaber. Back row: Bill Gracely, Bob Bennett, Roger Boles, Floyd Beers, Earl Harrison and John Gracely, manager. Bill Gracely was a regular for the New Bloomington squad until injured in an auto mishap early in the season and might be back for tournament action. Wayne Schaber and Carl Breece were absent when the picture was taken.

No. 16 for Freddies

Mount Gilead Bows 68-61 Before Fredericktown Club

MOUNT GILEAD — A sharp shooting Fredericktown quintet outscored Mount Gilead 68-61 before a record crowd here Tuesday night to extend its season record to 16-1.

The Freddies jumped off to a 19-12 bulge in the opening period and, hitting on 48 per cent of their shots from the field, maintained the lead the rest of the way despite a last period rally by the losers.

A crowd estimated at 1,250 persons watched the defending district champs go down to their third defeat of the season against 13 wins. Of that figure, 1,048 were paid admissions, surpassing a previous attendance record for the Mount Gilead gym of 914 paid admissions set against Chesterville last week.

Fredericktown held a commanding 61-41 lead with two minutes gone in the final period when the taller Indians made a valiant comeback. Mount Gilead, which wound up with a shooting percentage of 35 from the floor, shaved the bulge to 64-61 with a minute and a half remaining but the Freddies hung on for the victory.

Bill Frazier pumped in 24 points to pace the Fredericktown attack and received support from Paul Seymour with 16 and Gary Rine with 13. Dick Zolman and John Staley each found the range for 18 for Mount Gilead.

Fredericktown also pocketed a win in the opener when the Freddy Jay Vee's turned in a 35-24 win. Mount Gilead will entertain Crestline Friday and then close its regular season Tuesday by hosting Lexington.

Colonials Shoot For Title, Spot In NCAA Play

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Staff Writer

A guy named Joe has George Washington on the move in college basketball and the Colonials figure they're rolling into another NCAA playoff berth.

The Colonials, ranked No. 6 in this week's Associated Press poll, stretched their winning streak to seven games last night with a 73-67 victory over 11th-ranked Maryland. And once again it was Joe Petcavich who kept GW hustling.

Joey, a 6-5 junior, pumped in 33 points—12 in succession as GW grabbed a first-half lead. Maryland thought it had the Colonials solved by holding Walt (Corky) Devlin to six points, his lowest output of the season, but Petcavich took up the slack.

The 28-year-old Baker towers 6-foot-2 and will enter the ring weighing about 15. James, 27, is an inch taller and weighs about 210.

In 20 fights, the unranked James has won 16 and lost four. He's known as a good puncher—11 of his opponents failed to finish.

Brownies Ink Two College Grid Stars

CLEVELAND (AP) — Cleveland Browns officials said today they have signed halfback Aramis Dandoy of the University of Southern California and tackle Jack Eaton of New Mexico to professional football contracts.

The Browns did not make salary terms public.

Dandoy, who ran back a punt 85 yards for a touchdown against Ohio State in the Rose Bowl game, will be used with the pro team's offensive unit. He weighs 185.

Coach Paul Brown said "he's a real shifty runner and coupled with his fine speed should make us a fine break-away threat."

Coach Bob Tichenal, who played pro football himself before turning coach at New Mexico, said Eaton was "the finest pro prospect I have ever coached." Eaton weighs 230 pounds and stands six-three.

Saban Refuses Predictions on Team's Future

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP)—Lou Saban, new head football coach at Northwestern, is looking forward to a good team this year but is reserving specific predictions until after spring practice.

Saban, 33-year-old former Indiana University and Cleveland Browns back, was appointed to succeed Bob Voigts yesterday. Saban was one of Voigts' four assistants last season.

Voigts resigned last week because of alumni criticism. He had been head coach of the Wildcats for eight years.

"We have a good freshman team coming up and the varsity presents an excellent nucleus," Saban said. "We should have a good ball club but we really won't know until after spring practice."

Saban signed a one-year contract at an undisclosed salary.

He was a star quarterback at Indiana from 1940 through 1942 and a defensive specialist for the professional Cleveland Browns through the late 1940s.

He has already made one decision: "We'll operate from the basic T rather than the split T."

May Be Stronger, Smith Says

Phillie Pilot Counts on Young Hurlers

By MAYO SMITH

LAKE WORTH, Fla. (AP)—I think the Phillies are at least as strong as last year and perhaps even stronger because of the addition of two young pitchers like Jim Owens and Jack Meyer and the prospect of having Herman Wehmeier with us all season.

Of course, there is still plenty of room for improvement and we hope to do that this year. We should be a contender if we can improve ourselves at two positions —second base and right field. Our chances for improvement hinge on (1) ability to make one or two helpful trades and (2) some of the borderline youngsters from Triple-A coming through.

Lack of a steady double-play combination, insufficient power at the plate and a not too sturdy bench hurt us last year. I plan to shift Granny Hamner back to shortstop this season and if Louis Ortiz comes up to expectations at second base, our double-play outpuf should be greatly improved.

Weak Positions

Second base and right field appear to be our weak positions at the present time. Ortiz is a good defensive player but has not been known to hit much. I have hopes, however, that he can hit enough with us to play regularly. There is no question about his fielding.

Two of our outfield spots are set with Del Ennis in left and Richie Ashburn in center. Mel Clark, fully recovered from last year's knee operation, may be okay in right field. Danny Schell and Bob Bowman, a fine defensive player who hit .295 at Schenectady, are likely prospects. Stan Palys also has a chance.

Catching Prospect

I am looking forward to a three-way battle for the first base job. Earl Torgeson will have competition from a couple of fine-looking prospects — Marv Blaylock, who hit .308 at Syracuse, and Jim Westlake, a brother of Wally, from San Francisco. Willie Jones and Bobby Morgan will fight it out for the third base spot. Willie will improve because he underwent an operation to have calluses removed from his feet.

Smokey Burgess and Stan Lopata will do most of the catching again. Joe Lonnett from Syracuse is a good prospect. Then there is Gus Niarhos, acquired from Louisville last year when Lopata was hurt.

Pitching is our strong point. I plan to have five starters because I believe Murry Dickson needs extra rest. Right now the other starters look like Robin Roberts, Curt Simmons, Wehmeier and either Owens or Meyer. Bob Miller also could earn a place. In addition to Owens and Meyer, who won 19 and 16, respectively, in the minors last year, we have some good young pitching prospects in Ron Mrozinski, Bob Greenwood, Steve Ridzik, Paul Penson, Kip Kipper and Tom Casagrande.

Seek Relievers

Perhaps from this group we can develop one or two outstanding relief pitchers. That is a must. The Giants won the pennant last year because they had a couple of guys who closed the door on the opposition in Hoyt Wilhelm and Marv Grissom.

I plan to carry 3 catchers, 10 pitchers, 6 outfielders and 6 infielders. If I get the right kind of pitchers I might carry nine and an extra infielder. We don't have too strong a bench.

The Giants appear to be the club to beat. They are the league champions and they are a well-balanced club. Milwaukee could upset the Giants due to good pitching. Then, too, they'll have Bobby Thomson in the lineup all year. Brooklyn will make a strong contender if Roy Campanella and Don Newcombe come back with good years. Cincinnati will also be very tough because of all their power. Right now, however, they seem to be lacking good front-line pitching. The league is very well balanced and anyone of six clubs could win the pennant.

Bowling

Bob Owens' 233 and Casey Williams' 579 paced the field in the Marion Power Shovel League at Palace Recreation Tuesday. Owens totaled 542 while Williams carded a 220 game. EZ 5 walked off with team honors by rolling 879-2538.

Keglers in the Craftsman League at Marion Recreation were led by 216 games by Ben Lenavitt and Maynard Snyder and 578's by Bill Daugherty and Bob Johnston. Daugherty showed a 204 game while Lenavitt totaled 550 and Snyder hit 573. Other high scores were a 200-571 by Ralph Horst, 207-561 by Loren Nelson, 208-544 by John Lockstead, 544 by Bob Shaffstall, 201's by George Alber and Al LaValley and 200's by Norm Ralston and Dale Greenland. Red Top Beer with 535 and Marion Paint with 2588 shared team laurels.

Sportsman's League bowlers were led by 212's by Lowell Ralston and Gene Gunder and Don Owens' 585. Gunder accumulated 564 while other high scores included Glen Penry's 208 - 574, Kenny Owens' 183-202-171—556, Bob Owens' 183-205-171—559, Sam Sharrock's 568, Earl Vanscoy's 555 and J. Steinmetz's 211. Team honors were captured by Red Top with 923 and Hursts' with 2554.

Elmer Ferriman's 201 and Dick Whaley's 540 set the pace in the Automotive League. Joe Springer hit 539, George Barkley 532, Charles Reid 527, Dick Jones 523, Gene Koons 501 and George Gilmore 500 for other top tallies. Splits turned in were a 3-4-10 by Bernard Hill and 6-10 by Barkley. OK Cafe topped the teams with an 892-2555 mark up.

Guided MacPhail

Joe DiMaggio Engineered Gordon-Reynolds Exchange

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK (AP)—The ideal player trade is, of course, a swap which promises to benefit both ball clubs. If you wish to believe the club owners involved, almost every deal pulled off since the game began has been a standoff in the matter of value received. In our own experience, though, we have seen only one major transaction which actually achieved that goal.

The players concerned were Allie Reynolds, the superlative right-handed pitcher who retired the other day, and Joe Gordon, who belongs in any list of great fielding second basemen. It took two club presidents of rare imagination and gambling instinct to swing such a trade, namely, Larry MacPhail and Bill Veeck Jr.

Larry, then head of the Yankees, and Bill, boy wonder of the Cleveland Indians, got to gabbing in a box at the 1946 World Series between the Boston Red Sox and St. Louis Cardinals. Each had his troubles, the Yanks having pulled up a frayed third in the American League race just ended and the Indians a decayed sixth.

Veeck felt that if he had a second baseman to team up with his crack shortstop and manager, Lou Boudreau, he might get somewhere. He offered MacPhail the pick of his pitching staff — barring Bobby Feller — for Gordon, who had shone in five World Series for the Yanks. The Indians staff included, besides Reynolds, such attractive bait as Bob Lemon, Steve Gromek and Red Embree.

MacPhail called Joe DiMaggio over to his box and asked the Clipper to make the choice for him. Joe unhesitatingly picked Reynolds, though the Chief had posted only an 11-15 record that season. Though he was surprised, Larry went along, and right after the Series ended, on Oct. 11, the deal which was to shape baseball history from that day to the present was announced.

Cards Sign Vic Raschi, Pair of Young Rookies

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Vic Raschi and Dick Schofield, oldest and youngest players on the St. Louis Cardinals roster, have signed their 1955 contracts.

Raschi, 35-year-old righthanded pitcher who came to the Birds from the New York Yankees during spring training last season, reportedly took a cut in salary from $40,000 to about $35,000.

The Cardinals received the two contracts in the mail yesterday along with that of rookie outfielder Tom Burgess, bringing the number of players signed to 22. Seventeen remain unsigned.

Maurice Richard of the Montreal Canadians scored both his 325th and 400th National Hockey League goals against Al Rollins of Chicago.

Prospect Rally Brings Victory At Elm Valley

Bob Rodgers directed a last period attack to pace Prospect to a 72-63 triumph over Elm Valley Tuesday night at Ashley for its fourteenth victory in 16 starts.

The winners trailed 52-49 heading into the final stanza when Rodgers connected for 14 points to pull the Bulldogs from behind. Rodgers wound up with 27 tallies.

Prospect fell behind 8-0 early in the opening period and trailed throughout as Masters, Curren and Conklin began consistently dropping in long shots for the losers. Elm Valley held a 20-15 lead at the close of the first quarter but Prospect jumped in front 34-33 at intermission and led through most of the third period before falling behind.

Outscored from the field, Prospect crammed in 20 of 34 foul shot attempts for the win. Elm Valley converted on nine of 18 opportunities from the foul lane.

Trailing Rodgers in scoring was George Mosher with 17 points and Bob Emery with 16. Four cagers hit in double figures for Elm Valley with Conklin's 18 tops. Borden had 13 and Curren and Masters both netted 12.

Prospect's Jay Vee's marked up a 41-39 win in the opener as Ronnie Sparks pumped in 18 markers. Wells with 14 was high for the losers.

Coach Fred McCumber's squad is now preparing for its final Marion County League scrap with Moral on the Prospect floor Thursday night.

ONLY GOALS COUNT

PEWAMO, Mich. (AP) — Although it helps, you don't need free throws to win a basketball game. Ashley High School made all its points on field goals in one game, missing on six tries from the free throw line, yet defeated Pewamo 66-40. Pewamo made more than half its points total on free throws, hitting on 21 of 27 attempts.

Waldo Quintet Handed 76-45 Loss at Byhalia

A rugged Byhalia squad used its height to roll past Waldo 76-45 and hand the Marion County club its eleventh loss in 17 starts Tuesday night at Byhalia.

The winners grabbed a 19 - 8 bulge in the opening period and outscored Waldo in every quarter thereafter. Byhalia led 32-18 at intermission and enjoyed a 51-30 margin heading into the final stanza.

Jim Lingrel and Ohlen McAllister gave Byhalia control of both boards and were a big reason why the winners were able to hit on 32 of 59 shots from the floor.

Waldo was held to 10 field goals but dropped in 25 of 38 foul shot attempts for its 45-point total. Coach Larry Blaha's cagers dumped in 10 of 47 shots from the field.

Lingrel paced the Byhalia offense with 31 points while Kay Hutchins added 17. McAllister and Keith Hutchins each chipped in with 10. Roy Klingel was Waldo's scoring leader with 20 markers, 14 of them coming from the foul line. Stan Yake came in with 12.

Waldo's reserves ran their record to 15-2 in the preliminary with a 32-26 win over Byhalia's futures. Paul Wade with nine and Lowell Yake with six supplied Waldo's scoring punch while Eastman collected 10 for the losers.

Friday, Waldo will close its regular season at Claridon in a Marion County League tussle.

BYHALIA 76

Lingrel 14-3-31; Mulligan 0-2-2; Kay Hutchins 6-5-17; McAllister 5-0-10; Keith Hutchins 5-0-10; Smith 2-0-4; DeWitt 0-2-2; McMahan 0-0-0.

Giants Receive Two Contracts, Trio Unsigned

By The Associated Press

The world champion New York Giants undoubtedly will have a contented crew of athletes on hand when the squad reports to Phoenix for spring training March 1.

Usually after a team wins a World Series, it has trouble at contract-signing time. But the Giants have had little difficulty coming to terms with their players.

Two pitchers, Hoyt Wilhelm and Ramon Monzant, were added to the fold today to bring the total signed to 33. Only Sal Maglie, Bob Lennon and Foster Castleman still are unsigned.

Harpster Belts Meeker

Harpster blasted Meeker Ex-Hi 82-43 Monday night in a Tri-County League game played at Harpster. Red Dillion pumped in 26 points to top the winners while his brother, Harold netted 24. Bob Wood was high for the losers with 11.

New Bill Would Up Workmen's Compensation

Top Payment Would Be $40.30 Per Week; Lausche Backs Plan

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A modest increase in maximum workmen's compensation benefits was proposed in the Ohio Legislature yesterday with Gov. Frank J. Lausche's backing.

The bill would raise top payments for an individual from $32 20 to $34 30 a week with a $4 increase if the injured worker is married plus $2 if the worker has three dependents. That would make the top possible payment $40 30 a week

The measure was introduced in the House by Reps Aurel E Coffman (D-Licking) and James A Lantz (D-Fairfield), both serving their first legislative terms

74 Bills Introduced

The bill was one of 74 proposed laws introduced yesterday as the Legislature entered its stretch drive for introduction of bills Some 674 bills are in the mill with three legislative days left. Last session produced 1,178 proposed laws, but far fewer actual acts

Many more bills likely will be offered when both houses meet this afternoon.

The Senate will vote on four bills this afternoon and the House on one. Of general interest is a Senate bill to control party-line telephone conversations when an emergency arises. It provides penalties for those who refuse to yield a line in medical, fire or police emergencies, but also hits those who claim fake emergencies

Rep Ed Wallace (D-Pickaway) introduced a House bill yesterday which would declare a telephone company guilty of inadequate service if it tried to serve more than four subscribers on a party line The limit now is 10.

Pass 3 Bills

Three bills passed yesterday:

A Senate bill to exempt church, fraternal and veterans' groups from the necessity of obtaining health district licenses to serve occasional luncheons or dinners with a limit of serving meals on 52 days a year.

A Senate bill to reduce the number of examinations of state banks from two to one a year

A House bill adding township fire chiefs to the list of officials who shall investigate causes of fires.

Legislative committees recommended passage of bills:

To require the teaching of certain basic subjects in Ohio schools

To compel hospital confinement of persons with communicable tuberculosis

Among other measures introduced.

A constitutional amendment by Rep. Guy C. Hiner (R-Stark) to remove the prohibition of lotteries—because of Hiner's "disgust" with the lack of enforcement of the lottery ban.

Tighter Truck Tax

A House bill to revise and tighten the axle-mile tax on trucks, indicating a refusal of Republican legislative leaders to go along with truckers in their demands for modification or repeal of the special tax on trucks adopted by the 1953 Legislature.

Other measures introduced yesterday included bills to Ban radar warning signs unless speed-timing devices actually are in operation.

Require the Ohio Turnpike Commission to get city council consent before running a toll road through city limits.

Grant witnesses before grand jury investigations immunity in order to force them to testify.

Permit the highway department to improve or repair a federal aid highway within a municipality without the municipality's cooperation

Permit cities and counties to levy a tax of 10 cents per $100 worth of tobacco held for processing at storage points.

Clarify Ohio wildlife laws and to permit game protectors, forest fire wardens and state park officers to carry guns

Provide life sentence for illegal sale of narcotics.

Establish a municipal court in Findlay.

Raise taxes on wine of 14 to 21 per cent of alcohol by volume — largely wine produced outside Ohio

Another development was the announcement by House Finance Committee Chairman J Frank McClure (R-Ashland) that Gov Lausche's budget message to a joint session of the Legislature will come during the week of Feb 20

AFL, CIO LEADERS AGREE ON MERGER. Labor chieftains meeting in Miami Beach have reached an agreement on a merger of the AFL and CIO The decision climaxed efforts to bring the 15 000 000 members of the unions under a single tent Seated are AFL President George Meany (left) and Walter Reuther, head of the CIO Standing are (from left) David McDonald United Steelworkers head, United Bricklayers President Harry Bates and treasurers William Schnitzler, AFL, and James Carney, CIO (Story on Page One).

East have said they do not regard the shooting down as a hostile act since the pilot apparently got lost over the China mainland.

EDUCATION — The President spent several minutes discussing the seven-billion-dollar school construction program he outlined to Congress in a special message yesterday. It calls for a federal outlay of about $1,100,000 000 over the next three years The remainder of the money would be raised by the states

Eisenhower said he feels the program offers the best way to relieve a shortage of 340,000 classrooms without undue federal participation

He said it preserves state and local responsibility, but still puts the federal government in the picture in a proper role.

Aid

receive nursing home care Of the $65, the federal government pays $35 If the ceiling is removed, the state will shoulder the burden of additional payments.

But, said Robison, he believes the program—even with increased payments—could be operated in the next two years with the same appropriation voted for the two-year period ending June 30 that was 74½ million dollars

Robison pointed out about 6½ millions of that appropriation has been transferred to the state's poor relief fund But, in the same breath, he added various poor relief agencies have been forced by circumstance to make additional payments to aid for the aged recipients so their needs might be met

He added mental hospitals have been flooded with aged persons who are not insane, only senile

Much of the poor relief and mental hospital expense could be avoided Robison said, if the Division of Aid for the Aged were permitted to be "realistic" about the amount of money it grants its recipients in monthly awards

He held out the hope of a reduction of the patient load of mental hospitals and a drop in the relief load of local relief districts if aid for the aged ceilings are dropped

Top Use of Borax Found In Dry Cleaning Work

WASHINGTON (UP) — Application of household borax may save a suit or dress spotted by a spilled drink.

Research at The National Institute of Dry Cleaning laboratories in Silver Spring, Md., shows that borax or boric acid will make harmless the sugars in beverages which make brown stains when subjected to heat

These sugars called "reducing sugars" by chemists, are contained in the cocktails, fruit juices, beer, soft drinks and wines

The Institute says an effective solution for home use is to put as much borax as will dissolve in half a glass of water and apply generously on the affected area As long as contact with water will not harm the garment, this method is fairly safe because the solution is so mildly alkaline that it will affect few colors The boric acid used for eye washes also is effective

Two County Projects

$3 Million for Highway Work in Area Suggested

Included in the list of recommended road improvements submitted to the Ohio Legislature to be done in 1956 and 1957 were projects totaling over three million dollars in the Marion area

Only projects in Marion County itself are the erection of two new bridges on Route 30-S They would have a 40 foot roadway width and 24 foot pavement on approaches Their erection would be coupled with the construction of three more new bridges on the highway in Morrow County with a total cost of $670,000 of which $610,000 would come from bonds issued

The program would be done in 1957, according to the schedule released by state officials

Other projects recommended for immediate action are.

Hardin County, widen 4 48 miles of Route 31 south from Kenton to 24 feet and widen roadway on one bridge to 36 feet, total cost $138,000

Wyandot County, construction of two new bridges on Route 30-N with 44 foot roadway, 2 32 miles and 3 34 miles east of the Hancock County Line, total cost $82,000

Wyandot County, acquisition of 10 miles of right of way for future construction on Route 23, total cost $70,000.

CRAWFORD COUNTY, construction of new bridge on Route 4 3 8 miles south of Route 103 with a 40-foot roadway and approaches total cost $100,000

Crawford County, purchase of right of way for future construction along Route 30-N of 13 miles, cost $200,000.

Delaware County, addition of two new lanes on Route 23 in Delaware and salvage of existing highway for four lane divided highway for 3 99 miles and undivided four-lane highway for seven-tenths of a mile, total cost $1 600 000

Delaware County, construction of new 24-foot highway for 1 1 miles one and three-quarter miles east of Delaware and widen remainder of pavement on Route 36 to 24 feet and construct new bridge with a 40-foot width, total cost $540,000

Delaware County, construction of new bridge on Route 37 just east of Route 3 with 38-foot roadway width, and widen approaches to 24 foot width and resurface, total cost $50,000

Included in the reserve list for future possible construction are two major improvements of Route 23 One is widening of Route 23 from Waldo to the Marion city line to 24 feet, a distance of 9 46 miles

The other proposal is the widening of Route 23 from its junction with Route 4, north of Marion at six different locations, construction of one new bridge and placing a new deck in another bridge The roadway would be widened for 4 450 feet at the six locations and the entire length of the improvement would be 6 06 miles Estimated cost of the project south of Marion would be $820,000 while the estimated cost of the project north of Marion would be $500,000

Other recommendations for the area to be considered in the future are

Wyandot County widen pavement to 24 feet on Route 23 between Upper Sandusky and Carey and construct two lane pavement there Estimated cost $4,000,000

Hardin County, widen Route 30-S to 24 feet and resurface from Allen County line to Kenton, a distance of 15 miles, estimated cost $1,500,000

Crawford County, widen pavement on Route 30-N to 24 feet between Bucyrus and Crestline a distance of 13 miles, estimated cost $4,000,000

IN THE LIST of projects which were started in 1954 and should be completed this year are two in Marion County They were the improvement of Route 30-S east of Marion into Morrow County which has a completion date of June 30

It is construction of new highway from Route 98 to 1 2 miles east of the Morrow County line with two new bridges Total cost of the project is $841 900

The other was the reconstruction of the bridge at the intersection of Route 4 and 203 which is expected to be done July 31 Total cost is $62 100

Other contracts let in the area with completion dates sometime this year are

Wyandot County, relocation of Route 30 N from Route 699 for 1 70 miles east with three new bridges to be completed Dec. 31 with a total cost of $440,600

Delaware County construction of two new lanes and reconstruction of two old lanes to provide four lane pavement on Route 23 from 3 8 miles north of Franklin County to Delaware Corporation line and construct two new bridges to be completed Sept. 30 at a cost of $1 694,700

Wyandot County, widening of Route 23 from Marion County line to Upper Sandusky and construct new 24 foot pavement on relocation at a cost of $1,360 000. No completion date set.

Tachens

within range of a small Communist island" got three small holes in one wing

There were no reports of interference with the vessels taking the evacuees to a new life in Formosa Local newspapers said nine ships had reached Keelung from the Tachens today, but did not give their nationalities

Adm Pride said in a message one of his U S 7th Fleet ships had sighted what appeared to be a periscope Monday about 10 miles from the Tachens.

Communist jets were sighted yesterday about 15 miles from the Tachens near the China coast and 'going away," fleet dispatches said

First To Dock

The attack transport USS Lenawee was the first American ship to dock. Its sister ship, the USS Henrice, was due later

Other American and Nationalist transports, convoyed by U S warships and planes, were plowing southward through the East China Sea on the 200-mile run from the Communist - menaced Tachen Islands to Formosa.

Refugees spilled ashore on the docks Their faces mirrored homesickness for the two bleak islands which the Red Chinese covet

U S. sailors shepherded them ashore They carried 40 sick and wounded Nationalists off the ship in stretchers

American and Nationalist volunteers greeted the refugees They handed out food, tea, soap, towels and wash basins

Most of the 15,000 or more civilians on the Tachens were loaded on ships before last midnight, the Defense Ministry said.

15,000 Left Behind

Behind them they left about 15,000 Nationalist troops and guerrillas who blasted and burned defense works The Communists would get only scorched earth on the Tachens

Ralph Boyce of the U S Foreign Operations Administration, who returned from the Tachens, said only one islander, an opium peddler, wanted to remain behind

Refugees streaming into Keelung carried small bundles of treasured possessions on their backs

Twenty-six school buildings were turned into temporary shelters Trains and trucks will shuttle the refugees into resettlement centers and eventually into new homes

Boyce estimated the cost of resettlement would exceed six million dollars

One man of about 40 carried a bundle of household possessions on his back along with his father, who looked about 80

The old mother could still walk and she toted quite a load The wife also had a load of possessions and one child Two small children followed each carrying a back load

The kids were popeyed Each dutifully waved a little red flag containing a political slogan. They were sprinkled with DDT, which accented the age and patches of their clothing

Another man carried his grandfather down the gangplank, lugging a bundle of goods in one hand and holding onto a brand new pair of Army-style leather shoes in the other He was barefoot

An old woman tottered on the gangplank and a Navy man quickly helped her down A blind man got halfway down on his own before a Chinese student rushed up to his aid so vigorously that the student's glasses fell off the end of his nose

Malenkov

They expect Old Bolsheviks like Foreign Minister V M Molotov and L M. Kaganovich to stay in the arena

But Khrushchev, who teamed with Malenkov to purge police chief Lavrenty P Beria in June 1953, is conceded now to have the upper hand

Malenkov is expected to disappear politically and physically in the Stalin tradition No repetition is expected of the bulldozing way in which Beria was liquidated

Stalin's way was more subtle Hang a wrap on him—in Malenkov's case, it was confessed "inexperience" leading to failure to cope with the farm problem Put him to work at odd jobs until the heat cools Then erase him

That was the way Stalin got rid of a prime rival some 20 years ago.

He was Alexei I Rykov, chairman of the Soviet Council of People's Commissars from 1924, when Lenin died and the struggle for his mantle began, until 1930 Deposed and succeeded by Stalin, Rykov floated about until March 1938.

Then he was executed—ironically, after being accused of sabotaging industry and agriculture.

Rykov and a number of others similarly accused confessed guilt One of them, the Bolsheviks' publications chief, Karl Radek, cried out at his trial that he was guilty of all counts against him plus anything else they wanted to accuse him of

Perhaps touched by Radek's humor, Stalin spared him He got a prison term instead of the firing squad

Thus do American officials read Malenkov's future in his party's past

Malenkov could escape, of course, if he could run away That's what Leon Trotsky did until an assassin's bullet ended his life at his Mexico City asylum.

O'Neill Addresses Rotary

DISCUSSING NARCOTICS and the problems it creates among the young people of today preceding the Marion Rotary Club meeting Tuesday noon at Hotel Harding were William Charle (left) club program chairman for the month, and C. William O'Neill, attorney general of Ohio, the guest speaker.

O'Neill

and Fort Worth, Tex

At the present time, an addict in Ohio may enter those hospitals voluntarily, but may not be committed there by court order He also recommended that some addicts be committed to state mental hospitals which have indicated they could handle some of the addicts in the course of their routines

O'Neill pointed out there was no public institution in Ohio solely for the treatment of drug addiction, but said he was not recommending any great building program to meet the situation

He said his office had prepared a bill for submission to the Ohio General Assembly which incorporated the findings of the year-and-a-half survey and recommended suffer laws, more training and increased facilities for handling addicts

He pointed out that the system he was recommending was not fool-proof, but was a start toward solving a problem which could grow steadily more acute

Above all, he said, the interest and education of private citizens is essential to the stamping out of the vice in Ohio. Without public support and interest, he added, the program cannot work

O'NEILL'S TALK was the second this month on the understanding of youth being presented by Rotary on its 50th anniversary Next in the series will be one on industrial treatment of youth

O'Neill was introduced by program chairman William Charle, who also introduced Ralph Carhart, county prosecuting attorney Other guests were introduced by Vernon Street

Visiting Rotarians were Jack Hill of Detroit, Mich., and R I Olson of Jackson, Mich Guests included Dr. Marvin Wolf of Saginaw, Mich., John Smallshaw of Lakewood, W H Knowles of Caledonia, and William H. Gracely, H C Young, Dr. E H Morgan, Robert T. Mason, Robert T. Mason Jr., Joe Peters, Robert F Kelly, Joseph Whisler, John Robson, Louis Conkle, Z G McClenathan and Lincoln Spenspor

Student reporters from St Mary High School were Rita O'Connor and Jerry Ballenger.

Cold War

which would make the United States look like a backward country

The tough speech bore out intial views of U S officials that with Malenkov out of the way and Khrushchev on the upgrade the United States must look forward to a new period of tensions and much harsher Soviet policies and behavior

Zhukov

Zhukov has been a first deputy minister of defense. He emerged to great prominence since the death of Stalin, after a period in virtual eclipse after the end of World War II. A glittering hero of Berlin, Zhukov is known and respected throughout the Soviet Union and his name is well known throughout the non-Communist world He has been considered a rising influence in the Soviet Union ever since the death of Stalin.

As for Malenkov, it was noted that his new ministry is a rather minor post for a man who had occupied such eminence. But on the other hand, the Soviet Union is engaged in a vast electrification program which could lend to Malenkov's new ministry more importance than it otherwise might hold. He demonstrated his ability within a vast program of reconstruction left in the wake of the Nazi invasion

Malenkov succeeds A S Pavlenko in the new ministry. Pavlenko was dismissed

Malenkov's appointment emphasizes the determination of this regime to carry out its heavy industry and defense industry programs rather than concentrate on the production of consumer goods a program first promulgated by Malenkov in August 1953

Great applause greeted the changes

Backs Molotov Blast

The changes gave added significance to the words of Foreign Minister V M. Molotov who yesterday, in a 2½-hour speech, laid down a tough Soviet foreign policy which denounced the United States as an aggressor nation and warned that the Soviet Union had made strides in hydrogen bomb production which made the United States look laggard

He warned also that a new war would mean the ruin of capitalist civilization and the world triumph of communism This was in contrast to the Malenkov statements of the past that a war with nuclear weapons would mean the destruction of both civilizations.

Taking a similar line, Marshal Konev in an apparent reference to nuclear warfare, said recent Soviet maneuvers "have improved the Soviet Army's training in ways based on modern Soviet science"

"Our Army represents a mighty force which fully answers the demands and characteristics of modern war," he continued "If the imperialists dare to attack our motherland, the Soviet armed forces have at their disposal all kinds of weapons for the complete defeat of the aggressors."

He accused American "imperialists," of surrounding the Soviet Union with bases and propagandizing for atom warfare, but under these circumstances, he said, "the Soviet loses no time in perfecting its skill and training"

U S. Ambassador Charles E. Bohlen was among the diplomats filling the galleries to hear a discussion of Soviet policy begun yesterday by Molotov

Malenkov Moves Down

On the stage, Bulganin sat next to Communist party boss Khrushchev. Malenkov, who yesterday confessed his failure and inexperience as a government leader, was moved down in the seating arrangement from the middle of the front row to the end

Most observers believed the full story of what is going on in the Soviet Union was far from being told They advised a wait-and-see attitude on the possible reconstruction of the government.

Yesterday's eventual charges began with the resignation of Malenkov, announced at a morning session of the Supreme Soviet. At the afternoon meeting, Khrushchev nominated Bulganin as the choice of the Communist party's Central Committee, which Khrushchev heads. The Supreme Soviet approved the choice by acclamation

The shift underlined a renewed emphasis in the Soviet Union on heavy industry, the backbone of arms production. This policy has been backed strongly by Khrushchev, in opposition to the campaign for more consumer goods with which Malenkov identified himself

Molotov's foreign policy speech held strong indications of an increasingly tough Soviet line in international affairs

The foreign minister accused the United States of threatening Communist China with war over Formosa and the Pescadores Islands, upheld Peiping's claims to territories now held by Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalist forces and declared that communism alone would survive any future atom war

Demanding the withdrawal of U S forces from the Formosa area, Molotov said the Soviets consider "the aggressive actions of the U S A and its threats of war" as "an aggression which must be unconditionally condemned by the United Nations, if it values its authority"

He declared that a comparison of the true strength of the United States and the Soviet Union would show that Russia is not the weaker power. He asserted that the Soviets have developed hydrogen weapons with "such success that it is not the Soviet union but the U S A which is in the position of laggard" Then he added, "The Soviet Union wants a competition with the United States not in the production of atomic weapons but in using atomic energy for peaceful aims"

KREMLIN CHIEFS POSE FOR WESTERN LENSMEN For the first time Western photographers were allowed to make pictures of the top men of the Kremlin as they met in Moscow to listen to a budget message In front row (l. to r.) are L M. Kaganovich, N A Bulganin, N S. Khruschev, Premier G M Malenkov and K E Voroshilov In rear (l to r.) are A I Kirichenko, M A Suslov, M Z. Saburov, M G. Pervukhin, A. I. Mikoyan and V. M Molotov. A 12 per cent increase in "defense" appropriations was announced

Intellectuals

By George Sokolsky

It used to be that Americans were just Americans. That was before we became so class conscious that we want labels to describe ourselves as different from others. It is difficult to define those who call themselves intellectuals. For instance, Dr. J. B. Matthews whom the intellectuals describe as an anti-intellectual has as many degrees from a variety of universities as his adversaries; he has worked in 17 languages which is an accomplishment for any learned man; he translated the Methodist hymnal into Malayan; he worked as a geographical researcher in Africa. Does all that make him an iltellectual or just a scholar?

I CITE HIM as an example as one who cannot be described as a man without learning; yet the intellectuals would deny him their title. Prof. Lionel Trilling explains the situation of the American intellectual as follows:

"It is certainly true that in recent years — say the last ten — American intellectuals have considerably, even radically, revised their attitude toward America. It is no longer the case, as it once used to be, that an avowed aloofness from national feeling is the young intellectual's first ceremonial step into the life of thought."

Why was it ever, if it is not now so, that the American intellectual asserted his intellectualism by an antagonism to American nationalism which is the summa of American tradition and history? Why was this country so unsatisfactory to the intellectual? What had it done to annoy him?

PROF. TRILLING'S explanation may be correct. He says:

"A prime reason for the change in the American intellectual's attitude toward his nation is of course America's new relation with the other nations of the world. Even the most disaffected American intellectual must nowadays respond, if only in the way of personal interestedness, to the growing isolation of his country amid the hostility which is directed against it. He has become aware of the virtual uniqueness of American security and well-being, and, at the same time, of the danger in which they stand. Perhaps for the first time in his life, he has associated his native land with the not inconsiderable advantages of a whole skin, a full stomach, and the right to wag his tongue as he pleases . . ."

The right "to wag his tongue" as he pleases has always been anyone's right here. Are we to believe that these great mentalities who call themselves intellectuals did not realize their privilege until recently? Did they know anything about their own country or were they dreamers of "the ideal of the bright cosmopolis of artists and thinkers, usually localized in Paris or in Moscow.?

IN A COUNTRY of low literacy and class differences, the man who can read and write stands out as separate from the rest of the population. He is a man of distinction. In the Middle Ages in Europe, he usually entered the Church. He became a clerk. The Church offered the democratic way for advancement because a lowly cleric could rise to high position by sheer ability in a class-conscious society.

In a country like China where the written word was cherished, those who passed the civil service because they could read the classics and write poetry could rise in government service. A Hanlin scholar, something like our Ph D's but more so, cut a very significant figure. All doors were open to his advancement and if he added common sense to his scholarship, no office was closed to him.

The advance of technology added to craftsmanship altered the attitude of men toward the scholar and equalized him with others who might not be so literate.

THOMAS EDISON, for instance, had no schooling, no PhD, could not have been qualified by any university to teach physics but he produced a civilization by the application of physical science to commodities of living. The same was true of countless men in different fields.

In the eyes of the American people, these untutored men gained a currency as noble as that of a scholar who compared Sanscrit roots with Greek roots and came up with a racial theory that in a century exploded in the ideas of Hitler and Rosenberg.

The printed word seemed no nobler than the electric light bulb. We paid better wages to those who made the motion picture machine flicker.

Mere scholarship suffered in public esteem in an era which substituted pragmatism for moral absolutes.

Men and Brains

By Victor Riesel

True, you can now send a telegram direct to a machine and it will begin punching out exactly what you ordered without being touched by human hands. Western

VICTOR RIESEL

Union will simply cut some symbols into a tape and feed it into a robot a thousand miles distant and you are in production.

True, a salesgirl can now ring up a sale on a cash register, punch a button on it and immediately record how many items are left in stock — and in what colors and sizes. Another salesgirl then won't have to go looking through scores of boxes on out-of-the-way shelves.

True, you can now buy rail tickets from a machine which will give you the exact change and no back talk. You can get an electric brain to give orders in the exact voice of the boss himself, although the chief is thousands of miles away. And not from a recording — but from new impulses started by push-buttons.

WHAT DOESN'T SEEM to be true are charges that workers are being displaced by the electric brains.

At least for the moment, there have been no firings, no humans nosed out by machines.

What is happening is the slowing up of replacements. The companies using electric brain machines install them in anticipation of turnover. Men quit. Men die. Men retire. Where there are electric brains, men are not hired to replace those who drop out of the work force.

In the long run this could slash the number of jobs across the land. If—the new electric brain industry did not create new jobs elsewhere. If—the push-button system did not require skilled maintenance forces.

Remember, if a cell pops in an electric brain of the future, a whole plant may stall. Swift repair will be needed. So a new class of "mechanics" is springing up.

The new electric brain "controller" industry will sell over 330 million dollars worth of "automaticity" in 1955. Meanwhile, such firms as General Electric, International Business Machines and Remington Rand are building scores of new big plants and expanding old ones to handle the electric brain business.

HOWEVER, LABOR ISN'T sitting back just watching the "brain" grow. Most of labor is not fighting automation or labeling it an effort to wipe out human workers.

Labor is beginning to develop formulas so its human followers can co-exist with the automatons. These formulas soon enough will become common conversation pieces like "welfare funds" and "old age pensions."

The first of the plans developed by a union to meet the on-rush of "automaticity" has been offered by the makers, who are much concerned these days when you can tape a cake—bake it by running a tape through a machine.

The AFL Bakers and Confectionery Workers' attorney, Herman Cooper, has devised a three-part remedy, which I report here for the first time

Cooper, bakers' president James G. Cross and their colleagues will demand that the clauses be written into all future contracts with the big baking companies. In turn, they state that they have always supported introduction of mechanical methods to increase productivity.

THEIR FIRST DEMAND is that, "No employe shall lose his employment or job classification or suffer a reduction in pay by reason of such changes in production (automation)."

Secondly, they demand that the employers' savings effected by the "electric brain" shall be shared in part by the union workers. They want the right to reopen existing contracts within 30 days after a robot is installed — regardless of what the contract says about reopening or the time it still has to run.

Thirdly, if after 30 days of negotiations there is a deadlock between the employer and the union on the issue of raising wages because of the installation of electric brain machinery, then the dispute goes to arbitration.

The union, through its international president, Jim Cross, says this will assure orderly adjustment and will avert fear and hysteria in the face of the all-seeing electric eye.

Visitor From Wales

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK

Few visitors arriving in New York by ship bother to bring along their own lifeboat anymore. But Miss Janet Jones, a young lass from Wales, did. Stepping ashore clad in a red cloak, an 18th Century style Welsh dress and a high-topped black beaver hat, she took one look at busy Manhattan and exclaimed:

HAL BOYLE

"Aeth a fy ngwunt i fwrdd yn symyd mor gyflym!"

This, as any Welshman would grasp instantly, meant:

"It takes my breath away—everything moves so fast!"

MISS JONES—a name as common as Kim in Korea or Smith America—won over 1,100 other contestants to become the national hostess of Wales. She is here for a seven-week, coast-to-coast goodwill tour. With her she brought a corgi, a coracle, a collection of wooden love spoons, a black Bible made from a block of coal, a 5½-foot harp, and a walking stick which once belonged to the Welsh statesman, David Lloyd George.

The corgi turned out to be an underslung, mystified, homesick lady dog named Ceri, and pronounced "Kerry."

"The word corgi means cur or mongrel," explained Janet, who is 21, pretty, auburn-haired and blue eyed.

"The corgi has been honored in Wales since Howell the Good passed a law in 916 exempting the breed from taxes because they kept the pastures free of lurking wild animals. The corgi has been adopted by the British royal family. It is now the 'Falla' of Buckingham Palace."

THE CORACLE turned out to be an ancient type Welsh boat made of wicker and cowhide, so light even a girl could pack it on her back.

This is believed to be the first coracle ever brought to the United States.

Now about those wooden love spoons?

"In the old time," said Janet, "instead of giving the girl of his choice an engagement ring, a Welsh boy would come to her with a spoon he had carved. The more beautiful the carving, the more he loved her.

"If she accepted the spoon, they were engaged. That is where the term 'spooning' came from. If she turned down the spoon, it was love's labor lost.

"Very occasionally the old custom is still followed. It is much easier today to buy an engagement ring. But I'd much rather have a love spoon myself."

However, Janet made it quite clear she expects no love spoon on this trip.

"I'll be much too busy to look for a husband," she said, "and it's him that should be doing the looking anyway."

MISS JONES, daughter of a Presbyterian minister, comes from a tiny Welsh village only 50 miles from the town with the longest name in the world. It is—here we go, kids, look out for the vowels:

"Llanfairpwllgwyngyllgogerychwyrndrobwilllan tysilliogogogoch."

Miss Jones, believe it or not, can pronounce this in less than five seconds from a standing start.

"In English," she said, "it means 'St. Mary's Church, in a hollow of white hazel, close to a rapid whirlpool and St. Tysilio's Church, and near a red cave."

"But the people who live there simply call it Llanfair, P.G."

Even so, after all these centuries, the town still has a population of only 1,200.

NOTES DRUG ADDICTION

CLEVELAND (AP) — Cuyahoga County's chief probation officer, Richard J. McManus reported yesterday that drug addiction was a factor in 12 to 15 per cent of the 1,306 cases his department handled in 1954. He said addiction figured especially in burglary and larceny crimes, but addicts charged specifically under drug laws formed the fourth largest group of offenders. McManus recommended the addicts be given stiff prison sentences, and no probation, as "the only reasonable enforcement program.

Former Cardington Couple Instructing In South America

CARDINGTON — Rev. Robert Hochstettler, former Cardington EUB minister, and Mrs. Hochstettler, a former Cardington grade school teacher, have arrived in Quito, Equador, South America, where they will serve as missionaries under their church board.

The Hochstettlers left Cardington almost two years ago, going to Costa Rica where they studied the Spanish language and other courses designed to make their preaching and teaching service more effective. They left Costa Rica before the outbreak of hostilities there.

The work of the Hochstettlers is versatile, being a combination of preaching; teaching and farming. Rev. Hochstettler is assisting with farming 200 acres, only 60 of which are tillable. The flat ground of the other 100 acres is being broken up with a tractor sub-soiler. Their livestock includes Brown Swiss cattle, sheep, goats and Duroc-Jersey hogs, all of which are confined to the remaining 40 acres of the land. The Hochstettlers live in the usual native type home of adobe, the walls of which exceed a yard in thickness.

His pastoral work consists of early morning chapel for the workers, daily, two sermons each Sunday and teaching two Bible classes per week. Mrs. Hochstettler cooperates with three teachers in the grade school which accommodates 37 Indian children in her Bible classes. The school building consists of three rooms and houses grades one through six.

The Equadorians are excellent to work with, the Hochstettlers say, but are living in extreme poverty. It is hoped that modern methods of farming may improve the standards of living.

Most Calories Unused

OMAHA, Neb. (UP) — Most Americans actually live on half the calories they consume, a biochemist at Creighton University here claims.

Dr. Victor E. Levine says "the doctor lives on the other half."

The excess calories, he says, cause overweight, heart trouble, high blood pressure, and similar ailments.

Heavy diets are not needed by most people, he said, because machinery has eliminated most of the need for heavy physical exertion.

Lake Central Shows Profit For First Time

A statistical and financial report released today by Lake Central Airlines indicates that 1954 was the best year of operation for the local service carrier since its inception in 1949.

Lake Central ended 1954 with an operating profit of $31,285 and a net profit of $8,863. This was the first year the airline ended a 12 month period in the black. In 1953, Lake Central had a net loss of $176,997.

Passenger load factors also showed a marked improvement last year, increasing from 24.5 per cent in 1953 to 29.3 per cent in 1954. In May, Lake Central decreased its cost per plane mile to $1.19, a new low in operating expense.

Lake Central flew a total of 1,806,372 revenue plane miles and carried 79,673 passengers in '54. Air Mail and Air Express jumped to 31,843 ton miles and 95,873 ton miles, respectively.

According to Lloyd W. Hartman, vice president and treasurer, "Lake Central made tremendous strides in almost every phase of its operation during 1954 under the trust management, and we expect the airline to show even greater progress in 1955 under our new employe ownership, which became effective Jan. 31."

Crippled Craft Shifted to Coal At Mid-Ocean

ST VINCENT, Cape Verde Islands (UP) — A white - haired Scottish engineer told here how he and his men saved their crippled ship by converting her boilers from oil to coal in mid-Atlantic

Bound from Norfolk Va , to Portuguese West Africa, the 7 000-ton British oil burning freighter, Mulberry Hill, suddenly developed a leak in her oil tanks and lost her fuel

Stranded 800 miles from the nearest port, St Vincent she ironically had a cargo of coal The problem was to find a way to use the coal in the oil burners The vessel had been built as an oil-burner, so there was no vestige of coal-burning equipment as might have been the case in a vessel converted from coal to oil She had neither machine shop oxygen acetylene cutting gear nor spare metal aboard

But working four days around the clock, Chief Engineer W R Whyte of Glasgow and his staff did the "impossible One day the 'Mulberry Hill' was lying stranded heavy seas smashing at her decks Four days later she was on her way again toward these islands

To help his engineers Capt A C Gillanders of London steered his ship southerly to reduce her pitching Although a deck officer Chief Officer Archibald Mitchell of Glasgow went down into the boiler rooms, working 18 hours a day and even helping to fire the furnaces

The engineers said the toughest thing was to find metal to make the conversion They had to hand-cut pieces, including heavy angle iron to use for fire bar bearers out of other parts of the ship But they had to be careful they didn't cut anything vital to the ship's efficiency.

Second Engineer L A Price of Manchester received special commendation for having done most of the internal boiler construction

Thirty-three and a half hours after work started, the port boiler was under coal steam and the Mulberry Hill was under control again Within another 32 hours the center boiler was afire and the Mulberry Hill was limping toward St Vincent.

Starting off with a speed of three knots, she was doing five and a half when she reached port The ship was then reconverted to oil

Report Cards Out At Michigan School

BAY CITY, Mich (UP) — The fine art of forging dad s name to the report card is vanishing at the Baxman elementary school near here

School officials here have inaugurated the 'talking report card" The Baxman educators have parents come to the school and talk over the children s progress with teachers

The educators feel this will give parents a better over-all picture of their childrens accomplishments than the usual report card could It permits parents and teachers to work together better in developing the children

Students also benefit by the new system because they are marked on the basis of their own adequacies and not as they compare with other students

Teachers say the old card was an instrument of mental torture for children The thought of their parents' reactions was rough on their nervous systems

Railroads' Aid Is Solicited on Traffic Survey

Railroads passing through Marion have been called on to help clear away a final obstacle in the signing of a contract for an engineering traffic survey in the city

Dean G Roberts of Browne and Roberts local consulting engineers who submitted the low bid proposal for the survey, said letters were written to each of the four railroads asking for their definite plans concerning track raises through the city

The letter written by E E Sanderson, urban and railroad projects engineer of the Ohio Department of Highways division of planning and programing asked the railroads to advise him immediately whether or not they are planning general track raises through the city Raising of the tracks was included in plans drawn up some eight years ago by the four railroads

Roberts said he learned of the letter to the railroads during a meeting with highway department officials in Columbus Tuesday The meeting was to discuss what would be included in the traffic survey or arterial highway report for Marion

After answers are received from the railroads drawing up and signing of a contract between the city and the engineering firm will proceed Roberts said

He explained that amount of work necessary in the report will depend on the answers of the railroads If they are planning to raise the tracks less work would be involved because it would not be necessary to consider designing of over or under passes to eliminate railroad grade crossings in the city he said

Meanwhile no time is actually being lost on the survey, he added This is because the state department of highways must first make an origin and destination study in the city This will likely not be started until in the spring and results will not be known until sometime in the summer or fall Meanwhile there is little the consulting engineers may do to complete other portions of the survey all of which is dependent on results of the O and D study, he explained

Clothing Sales Bring Bargains To Wise Buyer

Shopper Should Look For Right Colors, Style In Choosing Garments

COLUMBUS —Edna Callahan, Ohio State University extension clothing specialist, gives homemakers four points by which they may judge whether a sale garment is a bargain.

To be a bargain, a garment must meet a wardrobe need, it must be in good condition and be right for the person wearing it It must be one that will stay in style and be priced right

Explaining these points Miss Callahan says a garment that doesn t fit properly or one that isn t the best color or pattern for the wearer is never a bargain People often become too price conscious during sale hysteria and buy garments that don't suit them or don't fit their wardrobe needs

There are many bargains in sales she adds There are real bargains in mussed or broken stocks Some soiled garments may be easily cleaned and look as fresh and clean as one that had never been soiled Careful shoppers will watch for defects and will recognize whether they can be corrected

Some stains are impossible to remove Miss Callahan cautions bargain hunters to beware of light-faded, lipstick-stained or perspiration-stained garments Watch for small burned spots or tears too, and be sure they can be repaired before you buy, she adds

Sometimes sales move garments just before styles change Homemakers should be conscious of this and know which types of garments are least affected by style changes

Shoppers can find good bargains in sale garments if they shop carefully, the specialist concludes

Farmers who buy boars and rams early will have more good animals to choose from, and they can get new sires settled in their new surroundings before breeding season

Morral Students Learn Reupholstery

STUDENTS IN THE home economics class at Morral School are learning how to reupholster furniture by actually doing the work on an old sofa donated to the school. The project is being done through cooperation of the Agriculture Extension Service and the school

Project Part of Program Begun by Extension Service in County

Seniors and juniors in the home economics class at Morral School this month are learning something which is not in their regular textbooks In cooperation with Mrs Elva Lawson the teacher of the class Miss Dorothy Gorby home demonstration agent of the Extension Service is conducting a series of classes on reupholstery work

The project got its start when an old sofa was donated to the school The sofa is lumpy, the springs are out of place, the covering is frayed and worn, and there is one loose leg on it.

UNDER MISS GORBY'S supervision, the students took off the old covering and removed the old padding Any of the stuffing which was reusable was saved to be placed back in the sofa later

Boys in the vocational agriculture class took over and went to work in their shop to straighten and repair the framework

Then the webbing on the bottom of the sofa was tightened, the springs were tied with heavy duty twine and covered with muslin and burlap

Following that operation, the stuffing process began Tow, which is broken ends of jute hemp, and flax, was placed over the frame and covered with cotton This process changed the shape of the sofa from a rounded back old-style one to a modern looking seat Part of the frame had to be sawed off to make the back more square-shaped.

ANOTHER PIECE of muslin was put over the padding to hold it in place and tacked to the frame Following that, the material for the covering was put on the sofa and tacked to the frame except for the back piece which was sewed on by hand

Miss Gorby says the most important thing in reupholstering furniture is to make sure the webbing holding the springs is tight and to make sure the covering material is on tight

Last year she started the projects as part of her classes for home demonstration workers and has continued to teach reupholstery this year She says the hardest task is doing the first chair for the rest are easy

She estimates the sofa at the Morral school cost about $35 or $40 to reupholster A regular size easy chair should cost about $18 or $21 for the complete job

MISS GORBY explained the largest cost in the reupholstering was obtaining covering materials which range in price from three dollars to over $10 a yard

She said that for anyone in the city or rural area on the county who wished to use their creative abilities, this was the ideal project More information on the classes can be obtained by calling the extension office at 2-0510

Classes are usually limited to 10 or 12 They are usually taught two days a week for three or four weeks Each one in the class is to supply his own chair and materials

Tow and cotton is supplied by Miss Gorby but paid for by the persons in the class She explained that this project is one of the ways for persons with the do-it-yourself urge to satisfy their ambitions

Tools used in the reupholstering of furniture are fairly simple Miss Gorby recommends a tack hammer which is magnetized at one end This enables the worker to put a tack in place with one hand while holding material tight with the other.

Another fairly important tool is a web stretcher which is used to obtain maximum tightness of the webbing of the furniture.

A SEWING MACHINE should be used where one is available to make cording trim on the material. A special cording foot is available to fit most machines

Then too, the person doing the job will need some curved needles to do most of the sewing in hard-to-get-at spots A double edged needle is also needed to sew the cotton to the tow in the padding operation

A pair of scissors is a must to trim the materials being used and a tack puller is recommended Miss Gorby pointed out it is important to remove all old tacks when dismantling the old piece of furniture If this isn t done, she said, there is almost always a tack in the spot where another tack should go

A dressmakers' chalk and wax pencil are important items to get ting the exact fit of the material and marking cutting lines Miss Gorby said old pieces of material removed from the furniture should be saved and used as guides in determining the size of the new material

It should take between 25 and 30 hours to reupholster an easy chair, Miss Gorby estimates For the beginner, it may take longer, but the time will be reduced as skill in the job is acquired

At the present time, Miss Gorby is the only instructor in the reupholstery classes She said though, that she plans to teach some others in the near future who will be able to conduct classes of their own to expand the program

Rural Residents Back Extension of Selective Service Act Until 1959

COLUMBUS — Ohio farmers are rallying behind a move to extend the Selective Service Act, with amendments, and see no justification for enacting Universal Military Training

D R Stanfield, assistant executive secretary, Ohio Farm Bureau Federation, today announced his organization's support to H R 3005, which would extend Selective Service to 1959 but is asking an amendment which would require the drafting of registrants under 23 before dipping into the older age group

Wisdom of the amendment, according to Stanfield is that it would 'eliminate the current practice of passing over young men at a time when they could serve in the military forces with the least disruptive effects upon their lives '

'A realistic appraisal of world conditions, the farm leader stated, clearly requires the United States to maintain strong military forces We feel that the Selective Service system with revisions can best answer our needs"

Stanfield listed two other recommendations which have the backing of state Farm Bureau units throughout the nation, as well as the parent American Farm Bureau Federation These recommendations call for

(1) A vigorous recruiting program providing sufficient inducements to obtain a major portion of men for active military forces by volunteer enlistment and

(2) Creation of reserve units by voluntary service

The latter proposal would make it possible for young men to volunteer for a minimum period of basic training after which they would serve in reserve units, draft exempt but subject to quick recall in a national emergency.

Meetings of local Farm Bureau leaders are being held throughout the state Stanfield reported one of the prime purposes of which is to inform Ohio Congressmen of the organization's stand on military service Stanfield added that Rep William Hess (R-Cincinnati) a member of the Armed Services Committee, has already been informed

Regarding UMT historically unpopular with farm people, Stanfield said, 'It (UMT) ignores the fact that national strength is a product of many things, not military establishment alone "

Orrville Man Appointed To Wooster Station Staff

Agent Declares Milk Best Buy For Housewife

"Milk is the homemaker's best 'food' buy," says Miss Dorothy Gorby, Home Agent with the Agricultural Extension Service here "And milk or other dairy products are basic to a healthful and nutritious diet," she adds.

The home agent points out that growing children need 3 to 4 glasses of milk (or it's equivalent) each day. Adults should have at least 3 glasses a day

Miss Gorby recommends that homemakers include more milk and milk products in their menu planning for really healthful, nutritious and economical eating Milk can be served in so many attractive ways too — from the glass, either plain or as chocolate milk in custards or souffles, and in combination with many other foods

If your family prefers milk in other forms, choose from the many varieties of cheese and don t forget that ice cream can add the crowning glory to any meal as the dessert supreme

America is blessed with plentiful supplies of milk and dairy products So why not make the most of this economical and wholesome food in your family's diet

a problem of the same proportion is facing most feed companies in mixing about 1/3 oz. of stilbestrol into one ton of cattle feed

The Food and Drug Administration in its approval for use of stilbestrol has set about ⅓ oz. per ton as the right amount for this powerful growth stimulant. That means it is added in the proportion of only 1 part to 90,800 parts. It must be mixed so that cattle get just the right amount . . . too little stilbestrol in their ration won't produce maximum gains . . . too much in their ration can prove toxic. Yes, it is a big mixing problem for most feed companies—but not for Purina, with its exclusive Micro-Mixing process.

MICRO-MIXING is accurate to the 1/10,000,000 part!

Modern mixing equipment plus the technical skill of Purina engineers, laboratory technicians, and mill employees makes such a mixing job routine for Purina. Purina's Micro-Mixing is a quality control process that assures you every bite is mixed just right. Every animal gets its fair share when you feed Purina Steer Fatena or Beef Chow with stilbestrol added. That means that you go to market with a much more even bunch of cattle.

Outside Speakers Slated To Appear on 2-Day Annual Program

HARPSTER — Main speakers for the two-day Harpster, Little Sandusky, Wyandot Community Institute Thursday and Friday in the Harpster High School auditorium will be William L. Manahan, representative to the Ohio General Assembly, and Professor Walter A. Zaugg of Bowling Green State University.

Opening session of the institute will get under way at 7:30 p.m. Thursday with devotions by Rev. Harold Vermillion, followed by a program by the elementary schools. Miss Carmeta Clark, an exchange student who spent one year in the University of Nancy, France, gaining an intimate knowledge of French home life and customs, will give an illustrated lecture.

Friday's program will begin at 9:15 a.m. with group singing to be led by Rev. R. B. Coleman and devotions by Rev. Ray C. McMillan of the Wyandot Baptist Church. The high school girls' chorus will present several selections and Manahan's address, "What Faces Ohio's Public," will be delivered at 9:45 a.m. A discussion period will follow. Preceding a talk, "Then and Now in Education," by Professor Zaugg, the high school students will present an instrumental solo. Following a discussion period, a covered dish luncheon will be served in the Harpster church basement.

The afternoon session will begin at 1:15 p.m. and will include selections by the high school band, an address, "Educational Legislation in the 101st General Assembly," by Manahan, a question period, selections by the Wyandot School Glee Club and instrumental numbers by the Wyandot High School students. Dr. Zaugg's talk, "Building a Philosophy of Life in a Material World," will be followed by discussion, remarks by County Extension Agent W. W. Wharton and a report of the nominating committee.

Representative Manahan is chairman of the committee on education and the Ohio School Survey Commission. His talk will be especially appropriate at this time and school districts are invited to send representative members of their boards and staffs. Prof. Zaugg is a well-known educator and lecturer.

Handicapped Employes Praised by Plant Head

NORTH BERGEN, N. J. (UP) —Toby Stern has discovered that hiring the handicapped can be anything but a handicap to a company.

More than a quarter of the 500 employes at his Jacques Kreisler Manufacturing Corp. have some type of physical infirmity, but that doesn't mean they can't do a job.

"Any one who can handle a specific job even reasonably well cannot be said to be handicapped," Stern said. "Practically all of us can handle several jobs. To label a person as handicapped is unfair and unjust."

In the Kreisler plant a man who is paralyzed from the waist down drives his car to work and, using crutches, operates a power press.

A woman paralyzed from her shoulders to her elbows handles an intricate job of assembling expansion watch bands.

Another paralytic is a parts adjuster.

"These people are so conscientious about their work," Stern said, "that their production often exceeds that of their physically whole co-workers.

"Not only that, but they're more conscious of hazards so they set a better safety record and influence others to do the same."

Trainer Mose Shapoff has serviced horses at Hialeah every winter since the 1925 opening of the track.

It's a Fact, Ma'am

RED BANK, N. J. (UP) —A young woman driver wrote the Garden State Parkway's state police headquarters here to thank the trooper who helped when her car got a flat tire on the highway.

"I have no idea what his name is," she wrote, "but he was dark, young and very handsome."

A spokesman said the description was not much help in locating the man because it applied to "most New Jersty troopers."

BOON PUZZLES

BUFFALO, N. Y. (INS) — Natural Greenland cryolite is a boon, but a tantalizing puzzle to abrasive engineers. A critical material during the war, the mineral makes resinoid grinding wheels last longer, cut cooler and work faster. Yet nobody knows for sure how it works, according to engineers of Electro Refractories & Abrasives Corp.

Radio and Television

By JOHN CROSBY

'Norby'

Considering its cast and origins and general promise, "Norby" has been an awful disappointment. "Norby," which is filmed in color on Eastman color film — Eastman Kodak is the sponsor — was dreamed up by David Swift, the man who originated "Mr. Peepers"; its star is David Wayne, a very fine actor indeed; and the rest of the cast — Joan Lorring as Norby's wife, Susan Hallaran as his daughter, Evan Elliott as his son, Wahleen Johnson as a telephone operator, Ralph Dunn as a bank efficiency expert and Carol Veazie as a bank president — are all excellent.

JOHN CROSBY

But something went seriously wrong. Norby (Mr. Wayne) is vice president of a small bank in the small town of Pearl River which is a real small town about an hour from New York. The intention was to be as honest as possible about small town life and to keep the whole thing in a low key. So far so good.

-:-

AFTER ALL, some low-keyed comedies — notably "Mr. Peepers" — have done awfully well on television. But somehow the key, in this case, has been lowered to the point where you wonder what the devil they're getting at.

The first of the "Norby" series was devoted to getting Wayne promoted from teller to vice president. It was a little mild and — for my taste — perhaps a little too relentlessly lovable but it was all right to get the series off the ground.

However, subsequent installments have not gone anywhere in particular, either. One sequence dealt with Wayne having overdrawn his personal checking account — a heinous offense in a bank vice president. Well, it's not a bad idea at that, but nothing much came of it in the way of comedy or character or drama.

MR. WAYNE and Mr. Swift, it seems to me, are leaning over backward so far to avoid any gags or any strained situations that they manage to avoid comedy altogether. One trouble is, I think, that Mr. Wayne, a very good comedian, has very little in the nature of a definable personality.

In pictures or in his stage roles Wayne has always been a bit of a pixie (if not, as in "Finian's Rainbow," an outright pixie). He does this sort of thing very well, but in "Norby" he is unaccountably asked to play it very, very straight. It's an awful waste of a good actor.

The other characters, while a good deal of thought has obviously gone into them, don't quite come off either. Miss Veazie, as Maud Endless, a female bank president whose favorite reading is "The Power of Positive Banking" and who talks a sort of polysyllabic nonsense, should be good for a laugh — but isn't.

And neither is Mr. Dunn, as Rudge, a bank vice president with an inordinate passion for stretching the bank's supply of ink past all reasonable bounds. All these people are being a little too self-consciously and solemnly cute. The scripts need a lot more ginger and, it seems to me, the direction needs a sharper definition and point.

AT LEAST TWO of the three "Norbys" I have seen have had longish dream sequences. Well, I haven't anything against fantasy provided you go all the way with it; these two sequences — like a lot of "Norby" — were just a little too straight-faced and self-conscious for my taste.

As for the color film, there have been some lovely shots, especially the outdoor ones, but the color on my set doesn't look nearly so good as live color transmission. This is the first time, incidentally, that Eastman has ever gone in for this sort of thing. I hope "Norby" doesn't discourage them from television altogether.

Power Plant Capacity Greater Than Planned

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Atomic Energy Commission (AEC) has disclosed that a privately owned power supplier at its Portsmouth, Ohio, plant will be able to deliver 165,000 kilowatts more energy than originally planned.

AEC Chairman Lewis L. Strauss discussed the matter in a letter to Sen. Anderson (D-NM), chairman of the Joint Committee on Atomic Energy. The committee made the letter public yesterday.

Strauss said the firm—the Ohio Valley Electric Co.—has offered to sell the extra power to AEC and that the commission has decided to buy it.

New England Boiled Dinner Is Wholesome

A New England boiled dinner makes a wholesome family meal but can also be served at informal supper parties. It is such a filling dish that only a light dessert is needed to round out the menu.

Here is an up-to-date version of this old dish.

Use:

3 to 4 pounds corned beef
4 peppercorns
1 bay leaf
¼ teaspoon thyme
6 small potatoes, peeled
6 carrots, scraped
1 small head cabbage

Place meat in large heavy kettle with enough water to cover. Add peppercorns, bay leaf and thyme. Bring to boil. Reduce heat and cook, covered, 3 to 3½ hours, or until tender. Meanwhile cut potatoes and carrots into halves or quarters, if large. Cut cabbage into 4 to 6 wedge-shaped sections. About 30 minutes before meat is done, add vegetables to meat stock and cook until tender. If necessary, lift meat from kettle to make room for vegetables, then place it on vegetables to keep warm while vegetables are cooking. To serve, lift meat from kettle and remove surface fat before transferring to a heated platter. Remove vegetables from stock with a slotted spoon and place around meat. Serve with horseradish sauce or mustard. Makes 6 generous servings.

Airman Fixes Plane's Landing Gear at 4,000 Feet and Saves 31

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — The Air Force has disclosed the story of an airman who dangled at 4,000 feet from the wing of a C124 cargo plane in freezing weather to save the ship from crash-landing with 31 persons aboard.

M. Sgt. Floyd A. James of Cave City, Ark., worked in subfreezing weather to repair the plane's landing gear before it could land Monday at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base here. He wore no parachute because wind pressure would drag on it.

The plane had just taken off from Alaska's Ladd Air Force Base when the landing gear trouble cropped up.

Maj. Louis W. Baker, of Allentown, Pa., the pilot, said a heavy jolt occurred when he ordered the tricycle landing gear raised.

"It felt like we hit another airplane," Baker said.

Baker and Sgt. James, senior crew chief aboard, edged out on a catwalk over the gear retraction well and saw that a lock pin was missing from the landing gear.

With the Alaska temperature 38 degrees below zero, they decided to continue to Wright-Patterson, as scheduled.

When they ere 40 minutes from Dayton, Sgt. James lowered himself head down through the well and in about 12 minutes was able to replace the pin with a spare.

Two airmen—M. Sgt. Frank L. Schear, of Marysville, Ind., and T. Sgt. Ralph W. Miller, of Madison W. Va., held his feet during the operation.

The plane was slowed to 135 m.p.h. during the repairs.

Maj. Baker said the sergeant received a small head cut during the gear repairs, but was not hurt otherwise.

Mississippi Storms Bring End To 58-Year Baptist Church Split

COMMERCE LANDING, Miss. (AP)—The ill wind that killed 20 persons here last week blew some good: it may reunite two church congregations that split 58 years ago.

From the wind-torn debris of two frame churches will rise a single edifice for the Baptist tenants of the 10,000-acre Abbay and Leatherman plantation.

Mrs. S. R. Leatherman Sr. said her family will pay for the new church, which will replace the plantation's Mt.Olive and Gospel Temple churches. Everyone seems satisfied.

The quarrel that split the Negro congregation was whether the pastor should preach one Sunday each month, or two. It was forgotten long ago. But the division remained until last week's violent weather.

The high winds ruined both churches, 60 tenant houses, an elementary school and a cotton gin.

Nothing could be found of Gospel Temple, located a quarter-mile from Mt.Olive, except the steps, a battered piano and a concrete cornerstone.

Mt.Olive, a 100-year-old frame structure, was minus walls and roof. But the altar, pews, piano and stove were left intact, together with the church bell, mounted on a tower of logs behind the building.

About 150 tenant families live on the plantation, which borders the Mississippi River, 30 miles south of Memphis.

Pleasant Student Wins Club Citizenship Award

Donald Martin, a seventh grade pupil at Pleasant Township School, has been named "honorary citizen" of the Marion Citizens Club. The presentation of a trophy was made by Mayor Harold F. Robinson Monday in the Mayor's office.

He was chosen for his outstanding work in the club, his attendance at meetings, and for receiving the most points in governmental study. He also was honored at a party Saturday night at the home of Leo Savage, president, at 759 Gill Ave.

Runners-up for the award were Ted Fortner, a sixth grade pupil at Olney Avenue School, and Donald Barnhart, a sixth grade pupil at Pleasant.

REVIVAL OPENS TONIGHT

Revival services at the Pentecostal Church of Christ at Christian and Fountain Sts. will open tonight with Rev. McClellan Scott of Jamestown, O., as the evangelist. The public meetings will be held nightly at 7:30 and there will be special music and singing at each service, the pastor, Rev. Curtis A. Haislip, announced.

Quits Football Career

MILWAUKEE (UP) — An 82-year-old grandmother said she is "through with football forever." The pigskin cost her two weeks in the hospital with a broken leg.

Mrs. Ann Kammer had only a short football career. She tried to kick a football back to her 14-year-old grandson when it was blocking the door of her home. As she kicked the ball, she slipped and her leg was broken.

"Imagine doing such a foolish thing when you're so old," she said, "From now on I'm going to stick to crocheting, knitting and a little tatting."

Her physcician gave her a football as a sourvenir.

Two Youths Seized In Upper Sandusky

UPPER SANDUSKY — Two Canton youths were taken into custody in Upper Sandusky Monday night after a road block had been set up at the west edge of the city.

John Paul Price, 20, and a 15-year-old boy are being held in Wyandot County jail. They are wanted by Mercer County authorities for stealing an auto in Celina Monday night and later wrecking it and by officials in Delphos, where police say they hitchhiked and stole a 1952 panel truck.

The 20-year-old youth is on parole in Stark County for auto theft and the younger boy is on probation in Stark County on a breaking and entering charge.

Upper Sandusky police and the Wyandot County sheriff's department apprehended the pair.

Banker Begins Drive for Vast New System Along West Coast

SAN FRANCISCO (UP) — The man who was disappointed in his dream of heading the Bank of America has created a formidable rival to the Giannini-fathered giant of banking within a few months.

Frank L. Belgrano Jr., dynamic, tireless president and board chairman of vast Transamerica Corporation, directs a fledgling banking empire that already has total assets of $800,000,000, one-tenth that of Bank of America.

Ironically, Belgrano built the new state - wide banking system, known as First Western Bank — Trust Co., on the solid financial structure of Transamerica, brain child of A. P. Giannini and once controlling-interest holder in Bank of America.

It was less than two years ago—in March, 1953—that the Federal Reserve Board climaxed five years of anti-trust suits against Transamerica by ordering it to sell many of its banking interests.

Three months later Belgrano was in the driver's seat at Transamerica's unpretentious offices at 4 Columbus Ave., and the holding company was on its way to acquiring its present total of 55 banks throughout the state.

When the deliberate-speaking Belgrano, a former national commander of the American Legion, returned to San Fancisco and infused new life into Transamerica, it was no shock to the city's business and financial circles. The alert, dapper man had been doing big jobs well for years.

Born May 18, 1895, in San Francisco, Belgrano was called a "born banker" by his mother early in life. He spurned his parents' offer to send him to college, saying he peferred to work.

He also refused the offer of a job by his father, president of the Banco Popolare Fugazi on North Beach, and instead went to work enveloping ciculars for the Bank of California.

He later moved to the First National Bank of San Francisco before enlisting in the Army as a private in 1917. He rose to sergeant before being commissioned lieutenant and was assigned to the 33rd Field Artillery.

After his release from the service, he took a position in the Fugazi bank and stated simultaneous marches up the ladder of business success and the hierarchy of the American Legion. His only hobby was the Legion; he devoted all his time to it, he once said.

As national commander in 1934, Belgrano spearheaded the drive for veterans' bonus legislation. His economically persuasive arguments with President Roosevelt on the issue were credited with pushing through bonus provisions affecting a mulliona nd a half veterans of World War I.

He served as a Bank of America vice president and president of the Central Bank of Oakland (one of the key banks in the new chain) before going to Portland, Ore., in 1947 to spur the growth of the First National Bank of Portland.

Then last July, in a series of adroit maneuvers, he merged the Bank of Oakland with the San Francisco Bank. Later the San Francisco Bank, too, came under Transamerica. The merged banks' name was changed to First Western Bank and Trust Co., and a series of mergers joined them with smaller Transamerica - controlled banks throughout the state.

What's more, on Montgomery St. they're saying this is just the beginning.

Murphy Company Lists Income Drop

Earnings of $3.28 a share of common stock in 1954 were announce today by officials of the G. C. Murphy Co.

Dividends of two dollars per share were paid for the common stock shareholders. The earnings of the company were seven per cent lower than those of 1953 due to a decline in sales of nearly five million dollars.

In 1953, the earnings per share of common stock were $3.54. The company expects to increase its volume of business this year with the integration of the Morris Stores at the end of 1954. Also in the line of expansion are openings expected for 18 more stores this year or next.

Earnings of the company before taxes were $15,141,407, while federal taxes amounted to $7,723,000.

N.Y. Stock Quotations

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market rallies strongly today in a rebound from yesterday's weakness touched off by Russian government changes.

Aircrafts, which were weak yesterday, were well out in front of today's advance. They were joined by steels, metals, oils, and almost all other major divisions.

Gains ran to around 2 points in several instances, and some made even better progress. Losses were small and scattered.

The advance, however, lacked outstanding vigor. Business was at a pace around three million shares for the day. Yesterday's total in a falling market was 3,400,000 shares.

Stocks rising included Chance Vought Aircraft, Solar Aircraft, Boeing, General Dynamics, U.S. Steel, Chrysler, Woolworth, Radio Corp., American Telephone, Consolidated Natural Gas, Climax Molybdenum, Reynolds Metals, Allied Chemical, Electrical & Musical Industries, Vanadium, Baltimore & Ohio, Pure Oil, Standard Oil of California, and U.S. Gypsum.

The American Stock Exchange was higher with a number of issues quite strong. Trading was moderate.

'Pinch Test' Gives Hints on Diet Need

BURLINGTON, Vt. (UP) — If you're worried about overweight, try the waistline "pinch test."

Milla Newland, of the Vermont Health Department, says that if a big pinch of flesh around the ribs is more than an inch thick, see your doctor. He is the one to decide whether a diet is needed.

Miss Newland, a nutritionist, says many times a doctor's advice is not necssary for the potential dieter. All that's required is will power. The first two weeks are the hardest, she added.

Reaction to modern diets usually is "Why that's more than I usually eat." This may apply to certa n foods, she said, but the size of breakfast may surprise the dieter. Studies show that having a good share of the day's protein for breakfast keeps you from feeling you have to have a doughnut with the midmorning coffee.

That's because protein foods keep the bood sugar at a higher level for a longer period than fats, starches and sweets.

Chances of Premature Baby's Survival Hiked

WASHINGTON (UP) — Premature babies have a better chance of survival than ever before, the U. S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare reports.

A new department booklet tells mothers premature infants may need special care until they develop resistance to germs. But when this period is over care and development is similar to those of full-term children.

One of every 20 birth is premature the department said. Although in some cases poor health may be to blame, doctors still cannot explain most cases of premature labor.

Premature infants can develop not only into normal adults but into mentally superior ones. Voltaire, Newton and Darwin all were premature, the department said.

Paris Clothing Designers Keep Styles Secret

PARIS (UP) — A silk curtain, almost as difficult to penetrate as the iron barrier of the Russians, has been lowered on the work shops and design rooms of Paris' high-fashion houses.

The curtain will stay down until top houses in this fashion center begin to show their spring and summer collections.

The houses take every precaution to prevent theft of their ideas. During this vulnerable period when the finishing touches are put on fabulous gowns, coats and suits, no one gets into a work room without a pass.

Only trusted employes are allowed to see the designers' final sketches and work on the originals.

Yet, even with all this hush-hush, year after year the exclusive models are pirated, at great financial loss to the designer.

Last November, the financial and economic section of the French Surete Nationale arrested three women for stealing fashion designs.

The trio had taken patterns of one third of the fall collections of Fath, Dior and Balmain. Police said the ring worked so smoothly that eight days after the opening of the collections, Dior and Fath originals were being sold in South America and North Africa.

The damage to the three firms was estimated at several billion francs.

Almost every conceivable—and inconceivable—expedient has been used by the cloak and - dagger fashion thieves.

In last fall's leak, a trusted, highly placed seamstress—a "premiere main" — had been bought.

But the real danger point is in the showings themselves. Although the guest lists are checked and rechecked the fashion pirates still get in.

One woman who operated successfully for several years was a respected customer. She carried a fashionable thin-stemmed umbrella with a large, grotesque parrot's head as handle. The head held a camera. When she finally was arrested, police found 16 pictures from two showings.

Others arrive at the show late, hurriedly remove coat, scarf and gloves and pile them on the knee and then from behind this barrier, as the models show the $400 to $800 dresses and coats, furtively sketch the outstanding designs of the collection. Many an elegant woman has been politely but firmly asked to leave during a show.

It is to get a headstart on the copyists that the fashion houses, through the chamber of commerce, have worked out stringent rules on the opening dates of the shows, release dates for stories and pictures of the collections.

Although every precaution is being taken this year as in the past, every fashion leader knows that what happened to Dior several years ago can happen again.

Two American businessmen bought six Paris originals, rushed them to the United States, paying the required duty and within weeks, a Dior copy had appeared in stores of 48 states, selling for the all-time low of $8.98.

IT'S BEEN SO LONG SINCE I'VE TALKED TO A WOMAN ABOUT LOVE— THAT WORD MUST SOUND COMICAL COMING FROM AN OLD MAN. DOES IT, MAVIS?
